OTTAWA—The Trudeau-Pearson transfer of power is expected to take place April 22, the fifth anniversary of Lester Pearson's taking office as prime minister.

Pearson:

Recognition Of China Overdue

TORONTO (CP)—Canada should have recognized Communist China from the beginning and was "close to doing it" when the Korean conflict broke out, Prime Minister Pearson says in an interview with the United Church Observer.

More recently, the government also was moving toward a change in policy on recognition of China "when the situation deteriorated in China itself," postponing "any final action."

IF DIVIDED

Pearson, in an interview published in the April 15 issue of the Observer, says recognition did not come in the years after the Korean War because of strongly-divided public opinion in Canada and a desire to avoid impairing relations with the United States.

"When you have a division of public opinion inside your own country and there is no great impelling urgency, morally or politically, to take action, then your relations with your neighbor, with the United States, become important in respect of that issue."

Mountain Crash Kills 35

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Federal police said a DC-3 passenger plane crashed and burned Monday in a mountainous region of southern Chile, killing all 35 aboard.

Ladeco Airlines listed 32 passengers and a crew of three. Police quoted a farmer, Noe Flores, as saying he saw the Ladeco Airlines plane dive, then heard an explosion and saw flames.

The passenger list indicated all aboard were Chileans. The plane was bound from Puerto Montt to Coihaique, 1,100 miles south of Santiago.

An engine fell from the Australia-bound plane before the crash landing. Seconds earlier the aircraft had flown over a busy shopping centre.

Moments after takeoff, the commander of the British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 reported fire in one of the plane's left engines. He circled for an emergency landing and the plane burst into flames, sending up a cloud of black smoke.

BOAC said an engine of the same plane caught fire on takeoff from Honolulu on a flight to Tokyo late last year. The plane was stopped before it left the ground and there were no casualties.

Sir Giles Githrie, BOAC chairman, said the company would conduct its own investigation in addition to the government inquiry.

"I shall be trying to find out why the fire extinguishers were not working, why the fire warning system was not working and why the engine caught fire," he said.

The plane—Speedbird Flight BA-712—was bound for Sydney, Australia, with scheduled stops at Zurich, Tel Aviv, Tehran, New Delhi, Singapore and Perth, Western Australia.

Hanoi Accepts LBJ Bid

Now It's Where, When

HARD DEALING NEXT

From AP, UPI

North Vietnam formally accepted Monday the bid of President Johnson for talks on Vietnam, and an atmosphere of hard bargaining appeared immediately to be forming.

Washington and Hanoi favored different centres as suitable sites for initial contacts and possibly later political negotiation. Johnson summoned his top advisers to a Cape David conference today to determine the next U.S. move.

U.S. authorities who took part in the 14-country Geneva conference in 1962, which guaranteed the neutrality of Laos, said that its communication facilities and accommodations make it the logical choice for any full-scale Vietnam talks. (See also Page 3.)

Hanoi Radio, quoting an interview between Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and CBS correspondent Charles Collingwood, said the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh should be the site.

U.S. officials said Phnom Penh could not handle the communications requirements that could arise if there were more than 200 correspondents and delegations of 20 to 25 from each of 14 countries attending a fulscale conference.

Johnson was unsmiling and terse when he called reporters into the White House and told them he had received a message from Hanoi, dated April 3, responding to his invitation.

"We have taken steps to notify our allies," the president said.

TIME, PLACE

"We shall be trying to work out promptly the time and the place for the talks..."

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, flying in from Saigon this morning, will be joined by State Secretary Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford for the Camp David talks, he said.

Repeated claims by Hanoi that U.S. planes recently bombed a North Vietnamese province far to the north of the 20th parallel brought a denial from Clifford.

SAIGON ANXIOUS

Johnson announced March 31 he was limiting the scope of U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnam, and the 20th parallel was a line drawn under these restrictions.

Leaders of the South Vietnamese government have displayed anxiety over the forthcoming Washington-Hanoi meeting, if Saigon is not represented, and Bunker is expected to report on this aspect.

Pope Paul assured King after a 1964 audience he would issue a document deplored discrimination in all its forms, but has not done so yet.

Father George Clements of Chicago, a Roman Catholic priest, said he will petition the pope about the possible canonization of King, a Baptist minister.

On the same date that the message was conveyed to the LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two sharp earthquakes, followed by a dozen aftershocks, swayed tall buildings and brought scattered reports of damage Monday throughout the southwestern U.S.

"It was a nice garden variety" of quake, said a Pasadena seismologist.

The shocks were felt from Los Angeles to southern Nevada and from Mexico to northern California.

Bill 33 Use Proposed

First use of the binding arbitration section of the controversial labor Bill 33 was urged Monday by B.C. cabinet minister Mr. Jordan to settle the six-month southern Interior woods strike. She sent telegrams to the IWA and operators as government mediation continued in Vancouver. (See also Page 3.)

Cabinet New Game

• There will be no snap election.

• Closer bonds will be established between Ottawa and all parts of Canada.

• The Liberal election issue will be an all-out assault on separatism.

• He will strive for a "just society based on freedom of the individual from too rigid laws, and revamped and strengthened social welfare."

SERVED WELL

Of Canada's foreign policy, Trudeau said it is now based on pre-war and immediately post-war premises.

This policy had served Canada well and he had no apology for it.

Canada's military contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

But "We are not as important as we used to be in Europe."

It was essential that Canada have good relations with France, and he would be willing to meet President de Gaulle if the French president would accept such a meeting.

SAME GOAL

De Gaulle was a realist interested in broadening French culture. Canada wanted the same thing and would get de Gaulle's co-operation if this were explained to him.

Trudeau also said he would increase expenditures on foreign aid and consider making it more bilateral than multilateral.

He said too that Canada should concentrate on what it did best: defense of Canadian air space. This country had a fine record of peacekeeping for the United Nations but it could not be "the policeman of the whole globe."

LONG HOLIDAY

Ruling out any snap election, he said, Parliament will meet as scheduled April 23 and deal with legislation already on the order paper, though not necessarily all of it.

Parliament should have a good, long summer holiday and return in September for a new session and speech from the throne.

Trudeau was asked if he had any special plans for Western Canada in view of support from that area.

ORPHANED'

His recent tour, he said, had made it clear that British Columbia, like other parts of Canada, felt "orphaned" from Ottawa.

To overcome this he said he will create regional policy desks within the prime minister's office. He hoped this would tighten up the government party structures and bring all sections of the country in closer contact with Ottawa.

Red Report Due Today

MOSCOW (UPI) — The ruling body of the Communist Party will meet today to hear the first state of the union report since last October from party secretary Leonid Brezhnev, authoritative sources said Monday.

Prompt Visit Paid Off

JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Just want you to know I enjoy reading your column, and the "seven danger signals" made me report a small lump in my breast. I had surgery two weeks ago. The lump was the size of a pea but was cancer, but from the tissue report it had not spread elsewhere. My surgeon said I was a lucky girl. (I am 46.) —D. J.

It's a joy when people profit by advice. And an endless disappointment when others write in and tell their symptoms and ask, "Do you think it could be cancer?" If in doubt, go to your doctor at once. Promptness saves lives.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband has what the doctor called coronary artery disease or

Your Good Health

"coronary insufficiency." He has always been a heavy smoker and drank a lot of beer. He takes medication and when he feels good he drinks a lot and smokes a lot. Then he has a setback and gets pains, but he never blames the smoking and drinking for his setback. —Mrs. F. B.

Coronary insufficiency means the arteries carrying blood to the heart muscle are somewhat clogged so the muscle doesn't get its full blood supply. The net result is not unlike the condition discussed in the preceding letter—the heart cannot do its full share of work.

A bit of whisky or brandy may be helpful, and often is in cases like your husband's, but note that I said a "bit," not a snortful.

Beer and cigarettes are out—both are entirely too harmful.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can over-doses of Vitamin C cause an overabundance of acid? —Mrs. M. T.

No. Vitamin C is the one vitamin, more than any other, which is rapidly discharged by the body if more than enough is consumed. That is why such emphasis is placed on citrus juice or other source of Vitamin C in the diet daily.

U.S. government, Hanoi radio's international service broadcast a statement which said in part:

CESSATION

"The government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam declares its readiness to appoint its representative to contact the U.S. representative with a view to determining with the American side the unconditional cessation of the U.S. bombing raids and all other acts of war against the Democratic Republic of Vietnam so that talks may start."

CHINA'S THREAT

In London diplomatic sources said China has threatened to withdraw support from Hanoi if it negotiates with the U.S. for a compromise Vietnam settlement.

Peking is putting heavy pressure on the regime of North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to continue the fight against America "to the bitter end." It insists victory is near for the communists.

Withdrawal of Peking support would involve the cutting off of economic and military aid to the Hanoi regime, the reports said.

NOT VIABLE

"A traitor administration like that of the Thieu-ky clique, even though protected by the bayonets of over 1,200,000 troops is not viable and will be overthrown by the people of South Vietnam. Life has shown that all U.S. efforts to rig up a 'viable' administration have failed."

"A viable government in South Vietnam should be a broad national democratic coalition government representing the aspirations of all patriotic social strata."

COMMITMENT

"The political program of the South Vietnam National Front for Liberation (Viet Cong) advocates the setting up of such a government. This is fully supported by the government of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam."

Trinh attacked the United States for claiming to have "a commitment to defend freedom" and pointed out that the commitment the United States must respect is President Johnson's solemn promise in the 1964 U.S. election campaign that there would be no escalation of the bombing of North Vietnam.

Other promises made by the U.S. should respect those made by the U.S. representative at Vietnam, under which the U.S. undertook not to make use of threats or violence in Vietnam.

He demanded that the part of Hanoi.

"The Democratic Republic of Vietnam is an independent and sovereign country, some 10,000 miles away from the United States and has done no harm whatsoever to it," he said, adding that the bombing of North Vietnam has to end unconditionally.

Asked whether he had any message for the American people, Duong Trinh praised opponents of the war in the United States for their efforts to bring the conflict to an end and pour scorn on assertions by American government circles that Hanoi wants "to win the war in Washington."

If you own 1959 Canada Savings Bonds

Here's a special offer just for you.

The Government of Canada has created a special new high-yielding security for the advance refunding of 1959 Canada Savings Bonds.

These Special Replacement Bonds will be dated May 1, 1968, and will mature in 10 years 5 months on October 1, 1978. They will be available only in exchange for an equal amount of 1959 Canada Savings Bonds, and not for cash. Their average annual yield to maturity will be 6.88%. They will retain all the standard features which have made Canada Savings Bonds the most popular investment in Canada's history. This includes the right to cash them any time at any bank for full face value plus earned interest.

In addition, Special Replacement Bonds offer the opportunity to double your money. If you choose not to cash your regular interest coupons during the life of the bond, compound interest certificates then become payable for a total of $280.00 extra (on each $1,000.00 bond). This amount plus your regular interest coupons doubles your money.

Exchange your 1959 Canada Savings Bonds for the new high-yielding Special Replacement Bonds. Don't delay. This offer expires on May 15, 1968.

You can take advantage of this compound interest feature in various ways.

Polish President Offers to Resign

WARSAW (UPI) — Polish President Edward Ochab offered his resignation to parliament Monday. Ochab, 61, has been in failing health and his retirement had been rumored for more than six months.

His request to be relieved of his post because of "ill health" was expected to be accepted by parliament when it meets Tuesday.

Ochab, chairman of the council of state since August, 1964, resigned as the first secretary of Poland's Communist party in 1956 to make way for the return to power of current party boss Wladyslaw Gomulka.

Ochab had failing eyesight for several years. His resignation comes in the midst of Poland's purge of alleged non-conformists from Communist party and official posts.

No political observers felt Ochab was being purged or that he would be stepping down for anything other than ill health. But they expected his departure to come at a time of political expediency for Gomulka.

There was speculation Premier Jozef Cyrankiewicz might move up to the presidency and replaced by Edward Grelak, first secretary of the party in Katowice. Cyrankiewicz has been premier almost continuously since 1947.

Some observers, however, pointed out Gomulka might not want to lose a close ally like Cyrankiewicz at such a crucial time. They suggested Stefan Jedrychowski, chief of the state's planning commission, might be made president.

Palm Pilgrims Throng Israel

JERUSALEM (AP) — Five thousand Christians in Jerusalem began Easter celebrations with a Palm Sunday procession, the largest Christian pilgrimage seen here in two decades.

The pilgrims, singing "Hosanna, the Son of David" and psalms in a dozen languages, followed the path Christ took for His triumphal entry into Jerusalem before His crucifixion.

They came from many countries for the first Easter in a politically-united Jerusalem in a generation.

In Jordan, many Christians celebrated Palm Sunday in mourning, because the holy

Khe Sanh Marines Hunt Red Tormentors

From AP, CP, LAT

SAIGON—U.S. marines moved out of Khe Sanh Monday to begin a sweep looking for North Vietnamese troops.

A brigade of the U.S. air cavalry troopers filed into the vacated bunkers and trenches of the combat base in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

Supported by same U.S. infantry units and South Vietnamese paratroopers, the 6,000 marines went hunting for North Vietnamese who for 2½ months of siege pounded them with artillery and mortar fire.

Meanwhile, Saigon announced Monday President Johnson has put about 350 more square miles of North Vietnam off limits to U.S. bombers.

PILOT ORDER

The report said the pilots have been ordered to keep their raids below the 19th parallel, about 170 miles above the demilitarized zone.

Johnson escorted the U.S. forces open to attack has been reduced, U.S. planes have more than doubled the number of strike missions against North Vietnam's southern panhandle, mostly against North Vietnamese supply lines and convoys.

Sunday, U.S. pilots flew 124 missions in the southern panhandle, a U.S. spokesman said, against bridges, storage depots, fuel dumps and road and rail communications.

TWO DAYS

In Washington, Gen. William Westmoreland, with President Johnson at his side, said Sunday after two days of policy talks: "Military we have never been in a better relative position in South Vietnam."

Westmoreland, reading from a prepared statement, said that "the spirit of the offensive is now prevalent throughout Vietnam" on the anti-communist side. He said advantage is being taken of what he termed "the enemy's weakened military position."

• Westmoreland, leaving at once to return to his command, will stop in California to brief former president Dwight D. Eisenhower on the Vietnam talks that began at the White House at breakfast time Saturday.

• After Westmoreland reaches Saigon on Tuesday, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker will fly to Washington for meetings with Johnson and other top officials in the latter part of the week.

Light Action Against Jordan

Israelis Chase Commandos

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Troop-carrying Israeli helicopters flew into Jordan south of the Dead Sea on Monday to attack the headquarters of Arab commandos operating in Israel's Negev Desert, the Israeli Army reported. It said the Israelis withdrew after a 105-minute action.

Jordan claimed, however, the Israelis were attempting an invasion with armored columns and helicopter troops "covered by a thick umbrella of Israeli jets" but were hurried back by the Jordanian Army.

NOT PLANNED

"These claims are ridiculous," an Israeli Army spokesman said in Tel Aviv. "This was not a planned action. There were definitely no armor or planes involved, only a few helicopters."

The Israelis said the helicopter force with assault troops caught a band of Arab commandos on the desert and chased them back to Jordan. The Israelis then flew home.

Informants in Tel Aviv said the action was part of a new phase in security precautions aimed at keeping Arab guerrillas on the run. They indicated swift across-the-border strikes may be used in the future to prevent commando buildups in Arab territory.

Understanding Needed

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to predict how or when the unhappy tragedy which now engulfs the United States will end.

Scores of American citizens lie dead, thousands have been injured and thousands more arrested as violence stalks the once peaceful streets of more than 80 major American cities in the wake of the martyrdom of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Predictably America's enemies—and not a few of its so-called friends—have been quick to blame the Johnson administration for the evil which has now visited the United States, finding more joy in the beleaguered nation's predicament than sorrow at the death of one of its respected and responsible civil rights leaders.

Despite this there is every reason to believe that the United States with its innate sense of justice, its dedication to the principles of democracy—tempered by other fires at other times—has the inner strength and the unity to overcome the difficulties which now beset it.

Should President Johnson now be able to obtain the swift passage he desires for his civil rights bill which was earlier shelved through the opposition of House Republican leader Gerald Ford, Dr. King's death will not have been in vain, sad though it may be to reflect that such move required the life of a man to succeed.

Rather than sit in self-righteous judgment of the United States—a posture many Canadians are particularly adept at assuming—it behoves us in this time of horror to offer our neighbor our understanding and our sympathy, in the certain knowledge that it will justly solve and inevitably rise above the awesome problems it now faces.

A Time of Testing

THE FIRST TASK of the new leader of the Liberal Party will be to heal the rifts and ease the hurts which are the inevitable results of so fiercely contested a fight for office. Only then, as the next prime minister of Canada, can Mr. Pierre Elliott Trudeau face the even more formidable tasks he has set himself and his government with any hope of success.

How deeply have the sensibilities of older Liberals in the cabinet been ravaged? How soon can they forget the humiliation suffered at the hands of this newcomer to their ranks? How successfully will they be able to disguise the bitterness brought by defeat? Only time will tell. But there are so many of them whose hopes were so high and expectations so well merited they must feel a hot resentment, perhaps as much against the party that repudiated them as towards the man who outdid them.

Something of the measure of this man will presently be seen in the sympathy and diplomacy he displays towards them, and in his magnanimity.

For there was a conspiracy against him, and he must know it well. It failed only by minutes, due chiefly to the reluctance of some opponents to relinquish their own dwindling hopes and join forces. When they did make the attempt, it was too late.

Of what changes there may be in the cabinet, what new policies may be introduced there has been little more than a hint. But Mr. Trudeau's supporters will undoubtedly expect he will be more than a hard-line party man. They hope for a leader for all Canada and for all Canadians.

There is some evidence this may be so. He has repudiated again the old role of Canada under Mr. Lester Pearson in commitments to the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in favor of a North American continental defence concept.

He has made the chief objective of his administration the defeat of separatism and the strengthening of a federalism which alone, he has said he believes, is capable of preserving the national unity.

He has said, in this context, that too many of the provinces feel themselves remote from Ottawa, the Maritimes languishing in economic distress and British Columbia lost behind the Rocky Mountains.

And he therefore proposes at least to consider the idea of "regional desks" within the Privy Council's area of responsibility for the more considerate handling of what might be called sectional affairs of the country.

He has views for the reform of the Senate, not only for its composition but for its future duties.

He has resisted the temptation to call a snap election, depending upon the impetus of his convention victory for success. And in this decision he is wise. There is still unfinished business for the House of Commons when it reconvenes on April 23. And besides, it will take time to restore the party equilibrium.

For the September sitting, however, he has promised a Throne Speech "with a lot of new things in it". On that basis undoubtedly he will go to the electorate. By that time, too, the electorate will know a little more about Mr. Trudeau and whether it is prepared to accept his policies or himself as prime minister.

The Peace Front

THERE HAVE BEEN FURTHER STEPS towards negotiation of the stubborn struggle in Vietnam.

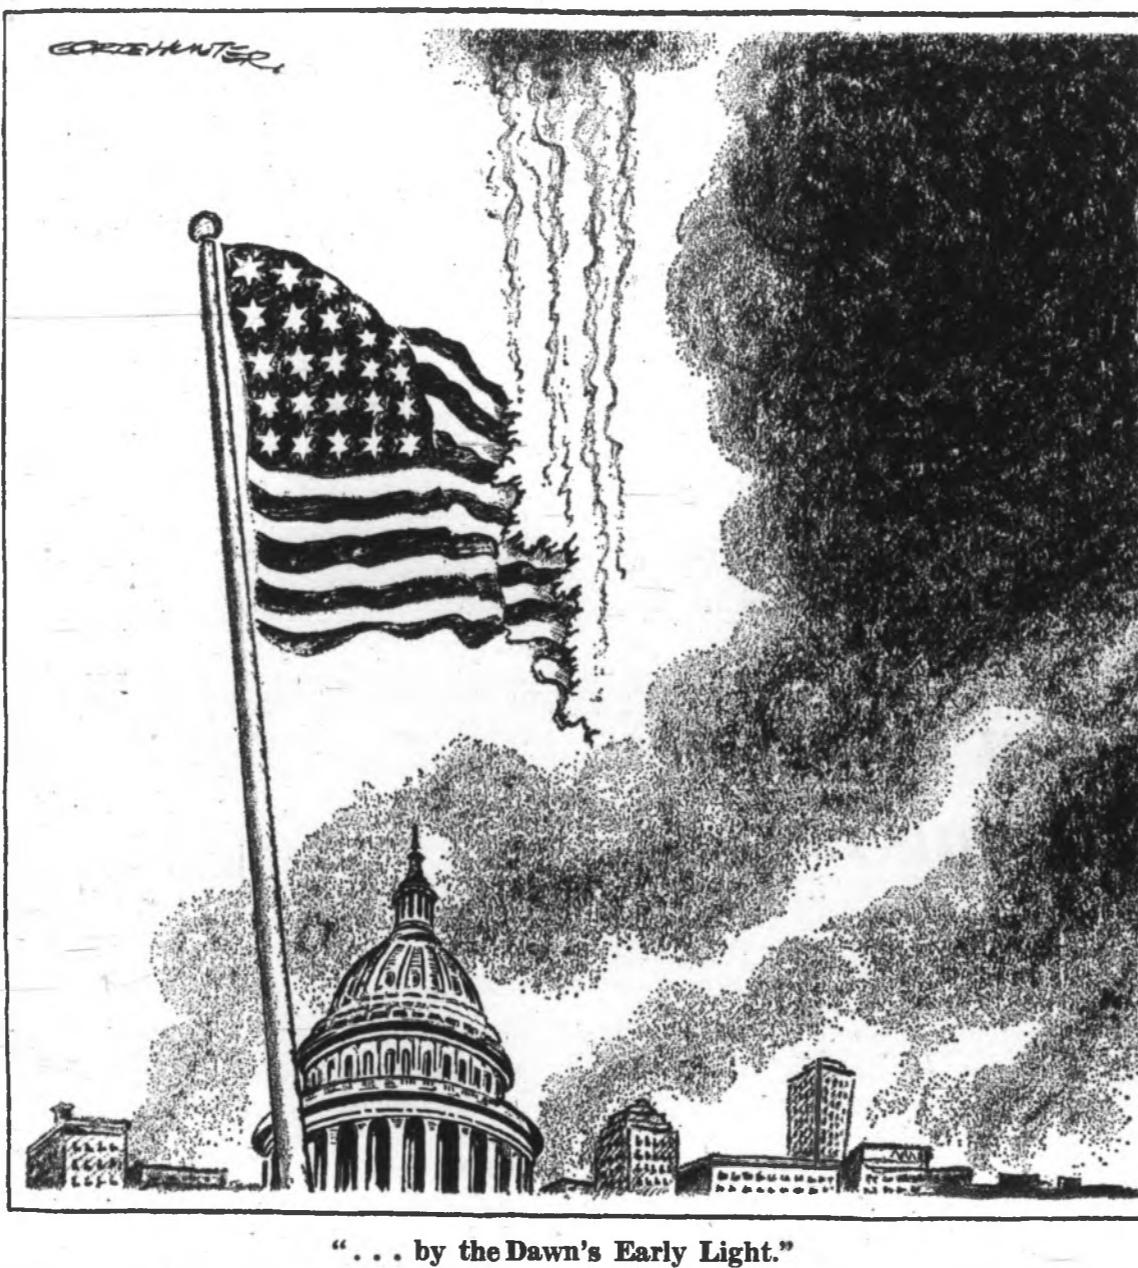

Hanoi has responded to President Johnson's matching moves for conversations, in spite of the speculation in some quarters that the American distractions at home might cause the other side to delay in the hope of gaining some advantage.

Although at this time Washington favors Geneva and Hanoi prefers Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital, as site for an ambassadorial meeting, it matters very little that there is a divergence here.

The heartening fact is that they have agreed to talk at all.

Moreover, Hanoi's expressed preference for separation of military and political conversations leads to the assumption that second phase of negotiation is in the minds of the Communist leaders.

A month ago such a development would have been beyond credibility. Now it seems a happy fact.

Portrait of a Prime Minister At the End of a Long, Hard Road

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonist Ottawa Bureau

THE king is dead, long live the king. And now, as he prepares to leave the throne, what was Lester Bowles Pearson, political monarch of all the Canadas, REALLY like?

The instant-historians, quick off the mark with capsule characterization, are filling him under W (for weak wobbler) and D (for determined doer of big things).

It's an obvious contradiction. And rationalization between the two opposites will have to be left to time and not-so-instant historians.

So history's mirror may remain clouded for years.

Clear, though, is the image he reflected for those with a worm's-eye-view from the grassroots.

The view of professional politician-watchers who have kept an eye on him ever since 1941 when he emerged from the diplomatic pack to become second-but-one top dog in the external affairs department as his assistant under-secretary.

Ten tinxies stand out in memory's album, and perhaps they picture something of the kind of person he was.

These were the quiet years when he was under-secretary and then minister of external affairs, holding his warmly cozy post at Treasury Island with the Northern Ontario hillsides carpeted in the bright white of spring trilliums. It was something of an idyll.

There is some evidence this may be so. He has repudiated again the old role of Canada under Mr. Lester Pearson in commitments to the United Nations and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in favor of a North American continental defence concept.

He has made the chief objective of his administration the defeat of separatism and the strengthening of a federalism which alone, he has said he believes, is capable of preserving the national unity.

Plea for Protection

THIS is partly a protest letter and a plea. Please, may we have some police protection at our public teenage dances?

Under the present conditions in Victoria, a promoter must hire commissioners or off-duty policemen at a charge of around $20 per man per night. In order to be effective, between two and six men must be hired, depending on the size of the dance.

These protection costs impose a serious financial burden on the promoter who is already paying for the band and the hall rental. Incidentally, if his hired protection is not completely effective, he must also pay costs for damage to the hall.

My point is the following. Even if not all of the young people who attend these dances pay taxes, certainly their parents do, and as sons and daughters of taxpayers (and simply as human beings), these young people deserve police protection when they go out to have a good time.

I think that some but not all public officials are aware of the liquor problem at public dances. Certainly not all of our young people drink at dances, but a noticeable percentage do, and the mixture of alcohol and emotionally exciting music seems to induce some people to pick a fight, possibly with someone who just came to have a good time.

The sum total of all these conditions is that there are less dances because promoters stand a considerable chance of losing money. Therefore there is less for young people to do with their spare time and, as a direct result, more people will involve themselves in activities which conflict with our laws.

The Marquis have been out of town often enough lately to be convinced that the situation in Victoria must be almost unique. As an example, we were at St. Martin's College in Lacey (near Olympia, Wash.) and at the Amvet's dance hall in South Tacoma last weekend. There were some 400 people at St. Martin's and four Lacey policemen on duty. At the Amvet's in Tacoma there were about 1,000 people in attendance and eight Tacoma policemen on duty. In both cases the promoters informed me that this service was supplied free of charge.

I anticipate an objection which may be summed up by saying, "but our police department is understaffed. We don't have enough men to patrol city dances." However, this is equally true of most other police departments and they have enough men to patrol their city dances. After all, isn't it logical that the police should be in the place where trouble is most likely to occur? Certainly.

It is not hard to guess what is behind their attempts to obliterate the old, historical traditions and it would not be too surprising to learn in the course of time that Wolfe was defeated at Quebec, Nelson thrashed at Trafalgar, the Germans won again at Oran and de Gaulle beaten again at Oran and the Second World War.

In summary, although I do not promote dances myself and therefore do not stand to make any money if free police protection is provided, I and all the young people of Victoria do stand to gain a safer form of entertainment than that which is presently provided.

JAMES MELNESS,
The Marquis.

Lost Traditions

Congratulations on your editorial "Navy Style" in your issue of April 4 in which you condemn the tendency of certain sinister influences who seek to eradicate every vestige of our British traditions.

No one can argue against the fact that the Royal Navy was the greatest navy in the world, and that every other navy followed its pattern and even its uniform with slight modifications. The Royal Canadian Navy which built a tradition of its own was modelled on the Royal Navy and most of its early officers and men were trained with the Grand Fleet.

The U.S. Navy also followed the same pattern and their John Paul Jones was born in Scotland. The Japanese Navy was also a copy of the Royal Navy in many ways and around the turn of the century carried British officers and engineers for instructional purposes.

It is not hard to guess what is behind their attempts to obliterate the old, historical traditions and it would not be too surprising to learn in the course of time that Wolfe was defeated at Quebec, Nelson thrashed at Trafalgar, the Germans won again at Oran and de Gaulle beaten again at Oran and the Second World War.

Canada is a nation on its own with subservience toward no other country but let's keep some history in its true perspective and resist this tendency to destroy our past.

JAMES BARR,

Studies in Longevity Lead But to a Grave

By JEAN-MICHEL VAN GINDERTAEL

THE goddess Aurora obtained tissue from spreading when transplanted. In fact it is quite possible that something like 10,000 cancerous cells invade our bodies every day and are halted and neutralized by our antibodies. According to a theory advanced by Sir Macfarlane Burnet, it is only when the reaction by the antibodies is insufficient, too weak, or too slow, as a consequence of the aging of the organism, that cancer gets the upper hand. This would so explain why cancer affects mainly the elderly.

Immunology is, of course, but one approach to the cancer problem.

A quotation from Dr. Alex Comfort, one of the best-known experts on the problem of senescence, sums up the argument:

"The most important single change in our world, where span is concerned, is that in privileged countries our children grow up and reach old age and our wives no longer die in childbirth. Men have always known the probable limit of their lives. We now know more accurately than ever before when we are likely to die. The most important future change depends on the progress of our understanding of fundamental age processes. If the present trend of medicine continues without such progress, all that will happen is that the common age of dying will shift from being nearer 75 to being nearer 85, and the commonest causes may change so that we die of conditions which are not so common, today's most frequent killer having been removed to uncover the next layer of the onion."

Do-It-Yourself

Easter Date Enigma

FIXING a date for Easter has caused problems for centuries.

It took the efforts of a great church council, a Pope and an astronomer to devise a standard method of determining the day for the festival, the National Geographic Society says. But even today the Orthodox Church celebrates Easter on a different Sunday from other feasts.

Secular groups have repeatedly urged churches to celebrate Easter on the same date each year, or at least keep it within a narrower time span.

Easter may fall any time within a 35-day period beginning from March 22 to April 25. In 1968 Easter Sunday is April 14.

The variation affects school and university schedules, law terms, department store shopping, and the fashion industry. Churchmen indicate they have no fundamental objection to a fixed date — the second Sunday in April is often mentioned — but interfaith agreement is still not in sight.

In the second century, Christians of Jewish origin wanted Easter celebrated in conjunction with the Jewish Passover. Christians of non-Jewish origin preferred a Sunday, regardless of the day of the month.

The Council of Nicaea decided in A.D. 325 that Easter must be celebrated by all Christians on the Sunday following the 14th day of the full moon after the spring equinox (occurring March 20 in 1968).

To simplify calculations, the Council declared that for ecclesiastical purposes, March 21 should be regarded as the vernal equinox, though in fact the date may vary by a day or two.

Despite the Council's effort, Easter became an increasing problem as the calendar year gradually advanced ahead of the solar year. This meant that Easter might eventually be celebrated in mid-winter. To remedy the situation, Pope Gregory XIII reformed the calendar in 1582, and the astronomer Clavius prepared tables for determining Easter.

By following Clavius' tables, Easter may be calculated as far ahead as A.D. 3069. The tables are given in such standard works as the Book of Common Prayer.

Do-it-yourself enthusiasts can use this table of Golden Numbers to calculate when Easter will fall: 1-April 14, 2-April 13, 3-March 23, 4-April 11, 5-March 31, 6-April 18, 7-April 8, 8-March 28, 9-April 16, 10-April 5, 11-March 25, 12-April 13, 13-April 2, 14-March 22, 15-April 10, 16-March 30, 17-April 17, 18-April 7, 19-March 27.

Directions: Add 1 to the year in question. Divide the total by 19. The remainder — not the quotient — is the Golden Number. The Sunday following the date given by the Golden Number is Easter.

Hence, 1968 plus 1 equals 1969. 1969 divided by 19 gives a remainder of 12, the Golden Number. The Sunday following the date given by the Golden Number is Easter.

The calendar shows April 13 is Saturday. So the following Sunday — April 14 — is April 14.

By BEN WARD

From Ottawa

"We're in, Paul. We're in!"

That triumphant shout well-ed up from among Paul Hellyer's chief campaign organizers at 3:20 p.m. Saturday when the result of the first ballot in the Liberal leadership race showed him in second place behind Justice Minister Trudeau.

The Hellyer team's strategy had been simple: Grab second place and rally the anti-Trudeau element around the 44-year-old transport minister.

Hellyer, who generally shows little emotion, allowed himself the ghost of a smile after a second look at the first-ballot figures he had written on his scoreboard in neat, small figures.

For an hour and 42 minutes the sweet smell of victory hung tantalizingly over the Hellyer command post in a front-row section of box seats in the throbbing Civic Centre.

True, the strategy hadn't worked perfectly. The plan was to get to within 20 votes of the popular justice minister. Instead, the spread was 422.

So the wheeling and dealing was harder, tougher.

First, with Paul Martin, who was bowing out.

Duncan Edmonds, Martin's executive assistant, hurried over to whisper in Hellyer's ear, "Come on over."

"Get there quick, Paul," advised Lee.

The Hellyer team watched in frustration their leader's slow, tortured effort to pierce the crowd jamming the 40 feet to Martin.

He and Robert Winters, the former trade minister, reached the Martin box together.

Hellyer returned with a tight, fixed smile. No deal.

Paul Hellyer (left) and Robert Winters tried desperately to confide in private away from reporters' microphones during Liberal leadership convention. Winters finally grabbed microphone (lower) and shoved it away—as another one edged in on pair on other side of Hellyer's head.—(CP) knuckles whitened around a fat, red pen. "Robert Winters, 473." Hellyer's mouth rounded into a gasping "Oh!" His side's face whitened. The smell of success became a mood of desperation.

The Lee and Hellyer heads came together. Another aide smacked aside a microphone boom descending towards them.

"It's over, Paul," Lee whispered. "Let's go now."

The Winters men sifted through the crowd to a pre-arranged meeting spot with their Hellyer counterparts. They waited.

State Secretary Judy LaMarsh, a Hellyer backer, also urged a quick withdrawal in favor of Winters.

"You can stop him, Paul, only you," she said. "Him" meant Trudeau.

Veterans Minister Roger Tellet and Marcel Prudhomme, a Montreal MP, counseled Hellyer to stay in. Prudhomme's advice was to wait for John Turner's defeat.

"The Turner people won't go to Winters, they'll put you ahead of him," he said.

Hellyer listened, then sat quietly for a few moments, head on hands. He whispered something to his wife, then got to his feet.

Bill Lee and Judy LaMarsh caught their breaths. This was it. But suddenly it wasn't.

Hellyer turned to his chanting back-seat corps with a wave of his long arms, and shouted:

"We're gonna fight! Let's hear it!"

"We want Hellyer" chant suddenly became a roar. In the Winters box heads suddenly turned.

"Get 'em going again," Hellyer called to a cheerleader.

A Hellyer aide, speaking aloud to herself, said: "Bob wouldn't deal the last time; Paul won't and he deserves everything he gets."

But there was a deal. It was "one more time" and out.

Suddenly the pizzas, now cold, were remembered.

Mrs. Hellyer wasn't hungry any more.

"Paul?" somebody asked. "No, thanks," came the reply.

Mary Elizabeth, the Hellyer's lovely 20-year-old daughter with long, blonde hair spilling around her shoulders, stared at the arena ceiling.

David shrugged and started handing the pizza box around to reporters. The slices disappeared in seconds.

Bill Lee picked up a cold hotdog, still in its wrapper, then tossed it away in disgust.

Then a sudden, final bid for the Winters votes.

Judy LaMarsh came back

"Winters is holding!" one of them shouted to a colleague on the floor.

Two huge pizza pie boxes suddenly appeared, passed hand to hand over the mob that now throbbed around the Hellyer section. David Hellyer, the minister's 11-year-old son, took them on his lap.

"The boss is hungry, let's get at them," said Lee, who then suddenly froze at the announcement that the second ballot result was coming. Everybody grabbed for a scorecard.

The results came in alphabetical order, at 5:02 p.m.

"Paul Hellyer, 465." That was 135 better.

The Hellyer section exploded with joy. But Hellyer and Lee ignored the racket. Lee's

BACKGROUND

I Have Respectable Friends of My Own'

OTTAWA (CP)—More than one woman may take her turn as hostess with the mostess at 24 Sussex Drive when bachelor Pierre Elliott Trudeau, newly elected Liberal leader, takes up residence there as prime minister.

Trudeau says Mrs. Lester B. Pearson, wife of the retiring prime minister, has already agreed to act as his hostess when he gets "caught in a pinch."

"I don't expect to have to call on her too often," Trudeau said, smiling. "I have a few respectable friends of my own."

Mackenzie King, another bachelor prime minister, solved the problem by asking the wives of leading cabinet ministers to act as hostesses on the rare occasions when one was needed.

Ellen, Hellyer's slim, attractive, blonde wife, asked Lee anxiously about the second-ballot prospects.

Trudeau Has Glamor

By EILEEN LEAROYD

Ottawa reporters, politicians and even voters are said to be racking their brains to probe the secret of Pierre Elliott Trudeau's success.

"Why do women like him?" they ask. They also ask, what has he got aside from a fortune, fame, and a talent for two languages?

Well, speaking for the women of the world, I'll say that for one thing—he has a good tailor.

And then again his tailor has something to work with.

I cannot say that Trudeau is handsome, but he has an intriguing air. He looks slightly sardonic. He looks more like a Russian than a Frenchman with high, almost fawn-like cheekbones. His face is somewhere between a Nijinsky and a Nureyev.

It's a switch from Lester Pearson's.

Then he has an absolutely fascinating hairdo. I find myself staring at it. Is it combed to one side? Is it brushed forward in tiny half-curves? Can it be that it is a sort of Benjamin Disraeli style? (Imagine a Liberal leader looking like such a great Conservative.)

The man is also articulate, and yet doesn't sound pompous. I've yet to hear him pronounce the dread phrases, "Province-wise, army-wise or publicity-wise."

Trudeau looks elegant. He also looks as if he's travelled to cities bigger than Dauphin, Manitoba, and sunned on beaches beyond Lake Ontario.

I really feel he was chosen over all others because Canadians secretly yearn for a more glamorous image. Canadians travelling abroad are weary of being asked, "How are the crops?"

They are, even perhaps bored with the prime minister "father" image and the annual birthday pictures dangling their grandchildren on their knees.

Perhaps Canadians are even enjoying the prospect of flirting with danger.

What WILL the man do? He has flirted with us by giving us a vague hint that he is federally moderate and will keep Quebec in its place. But will he?

A knowledgeable Conservative friend says it has all been sticky contrived and that Quebec will get all its heart desires when he is firmly in.

Meanwhile ladies, let's bask in his Gallic charm.

Philby Given Three DaysSaigon Bans Big Spy's Son

SAIGON (UPI) — The South Vietnamese government has ordered John Philby, the son of British master-spy Kim Philby, to leave South Vietnam immediately.

John Philby, 24, arrived in Vietnam five weeks ago as a freelance correspondent. He traveled to Khe Sanh during the siege, the Mekong Delta and many other battle scenes.

Philby said Sunday immigration officials told him simply they had "instructions not to renew his visa."

A correspondent for the London Sunday Times, which gave a letter of introduction to Philby on his self-published trip to Vietnam, said he had received a protest from the South Vietnamese Embassy in London about Philby's presence in South Vietnam.

Soft Drink Too Hard on Noble Title

LONDON (AP)—Dorothy Bushby's brother auctioned off the family title, but when she heard it was being offered as a prize by an American soft drink company, that was too much. She has offered to buy it back for £1,000 ($2,600).

The title is Lord of the Manor of Wormley, Hertfordshire. It carries few privileges. But the snob appeal of such titles is such that Dudley Bushby, 13th lord of the manor, managed to sell it at auction to a private individual last year before he emigrated to Australia.

Eventually it was reported sold to the American company, Seven-Up, for $1,920 and offered as a contest prize.

Miss Bushby, who is retired, said Sunday: "I am shocked and horrified at such a vulgar use of this ancient title. I had no idea the American company had bought it."

At Seven-Up headquarters in St. Louis, President Ben H. Wells said the firm could not withdraw the top prize in its sweepstakes competition now.

$10,000

Mr. Croft Haynes, 2128 Grand Blvd., North Vancouver, was going to give one of his three packs of P.J. to a neighbour who had run out of cigarettes.

However, his friend did not want to leave him with only two packs, so he declined the offer. Good thing for Mr. Haynes that he did!

Inside one of the packs was a cash certificate from Peter

Jackson worth $10,000!

(And that's tax-free!)

Mr. Haynes opened the lucky pack later in the day. When he first saw the certificate, he wasn't quite sure what it was or if it were real. Although his wife thought it was "funny money", his son confirmed that it was indeed worth $10,000!

Now Mr. Haynes and his wife can take the trip of a lifetime to Mexico! He also said he will use some of the money to make some improvements around his home.

Yes, Mr. Haynes is finding out that there's nothing "funny" about P.J.'s $10,000 cash certificates... except all the "fun" you can have with them!

Blacks Demand Strike As Riots Rage On died, and more than 51,000 troops were on duty.

Beneath a spring sky a sombre grey, row on row of marchers paraded through Memphis, in silent, grieving remembrance of King. His wife in black and three of his four children clasped hands to lead the ranks.

"I came to you today because I was compelled . . . I felt he would have wanted me to be here," Mrs. Coretta King told the Negro and white marchers when they arrived at their destination, the city's marble, modern city hall.

LIGHT DRIZZLE

On occasion a light drizzle fell upon the line of marchers—many of them smartly dressed, others in the humble working garb of field and mill. About 30 per cent were white.

A reporter estimated the crowd at 13,250, although police said it swelled to 19,000 at one point and march leaders proclaimed an attendance of 40,000.

On the sidewalks, hundreds of onlookers jostled for a glimpse of Mrs. King, repeating: "That's her, that's her."

The wife marched at times with half-closed eyes. Her lips appeared fixed in a slightly nervous half-smile. Her children glanced from side to side at the crowd.

ALL BUT YOUNGEST

The eldest child, Yolanda, 12, was dressed in pink. Her two brothers, Martin III, 10, and Dexter, 6, wore sports coats with ties.

From a platform in front of City Hall, Mrs. King in an even voice told the crowd: "I come to you today because I was compelled. During my husband's lifetime I have always been at his side when I felt he needed me. And so today I felt he would have wanted me to be here."

MUST CARRY ON

Her speech interrupted time and again an applause, the 41-year-old wife continued: "I challenge you today to see that his spirit never dies . . . We must carry on, because this is the way he would have wanted it. His campaign for the poor must go on."

SAME ROUTE

The march route was the one Dr. King had planned to use when he led a march here March 28 that flared into a brief but violent rampage of looting. One young Negro boy was killed in the riot aftermath.

Top officials of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the civil rights organization Dr. King had headed, other civil rights leaders and union officials from several states were in the front ranks of the march.

Among them were Bayard Rustin, the chief architect for the 1964 march on Washington; Dr. Benjamin Spock, the baby doctor turned anti-Vietnam war organizer; Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, King's closest friend and the new head of SCLC; Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, and singer Harry Belafonte.

PRIVATE JET

Belafonte had brought Mrs. King and the children here in his private jet plane from Atlanta.

Black and white marched together, with union officials and civil rights workers making most of the white contingent. National Guardsmen with bared bayonets and their rifles sealed off a three-block area around City Hall and blocked traffic from intersecting streets along the line of march. There were no reported incidents.

It took two hours and two minutes for the last of the marchers to pass the starting point, and Mrs. King and the others in the front rank had reached City Hall a mile away about 45 minutes earlier.

SPEECH PATTERN

At the Memphis rally Abernathy told the marchers that "I have a vision" of a United States free of racial discrimination.

LOOTER SHOT

Renewed arson, looting and violence erupted in Baltimore, bringing 1,900 more federal troops into the riot-torn sections of the city. One suspected looter was shot dead.

Pittsburgh was also hit by new vandalism, and another 650 national guardsmen were called in.

In Cincinnati a white man was dragged from his car and relative calm following imposition of a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

Governor Charles Terry ordered the state of emergency—a riot-control measure—as a handful of shots were reported to have been fired in the west centre area, which is predominantly Negro.

Police said Noel Wright, 30, was dragged from his car after a minor accident and stabbed to death by eight Negroes—five men and three women, as his wife watched in horror. She was not harmed.

GUNFIGHT

Negroes in Youngstown went on a six-hour firebombing and stone-throwing spree following a gunfight in which two white policemen and a Negro civilian were wounded.

National guardsmen restored dragging from his car and relative calm following imposition of a dusk-to-dawn curfew.

during a three-hour rampage of burning and looting by Negroes.

Snipers fired at police and firemen but the callout of national guard troops restored relative order.

The violence began when a Negro man shot his girl friend to death and sent a mob of Negroes watching the looting of a liquor store into a frenzy.

Police said Noel Wright, 30, was dragged from his car after a minor accident and stabbed to death by eight Negroes—five men and three women, as his wife watched in horror. She was not harmed.

SEVEN INJURED

In Buffalo at least seven persons, including two Negro youths suffering buckshot wounds, were injured Monday as violence erupted in the city's predominantly Negro East Side.

Meanwhile in cities and towns across the U.S. Sunday thousands of Negroes and whites eulogized Dr. King at church services, outdoor observances and quiet marches.

The national day of mourning was noted around the world.

In The Hague UN Secretary-General U Thant told about 2,500 at a memorial service: "I share the deep sense of shock with you."

FATHER COLLAPSES

Rev. Martin Luther King, Sr., 86, collapsed in sobs Sunday at his son's bier. "He never hated throughout the world."

anybody," the white-haired minister sobbed.

Stock exchanges, many U.S. banks and businesses, in a rare tribute on the death of a private citizen, closed Monday in honor of King. Other companies will pause for a moment of silence today during his funeral.

From Ottawa Prime Minister Pearson sent a message of condolence to Mrs. King, telling her of the respect and admiration of the world for his son throughout the world.

Radio Hanoi said North Vietnamese Premier Phan Van Dong sent a message of sympathy to the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and to King's family.

Jubilee Opening Diabetic Centre

Royal Jubilee Hospital will soon launch an educational venture that will help diabetics in Victoria live normal lives.

The diabetic daycare centre, believed to be the second of its kind in British Columbia, will open as soon as the last-minute details are ironed out.

It is meant to help the diabetic understand and maintain the delicate balance which must be kept in relation to insulin, diet and exercise. Patients who do not maintain that balance may suffer blindness, kidney failure or blood vessel disease.

EIGHT PATIENTS

Royal Jubilee's plans envisage eight patients staying at the hospital between 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. one day each week. Their diets will be carefully controlled and they will be given exercise and insulin which they normally take.

Miss Mary O'Brien, Jubilee's dietitian, has incorporated into the day-long program as number of educational sessions, when doctors and nurses will talk to the patients about their diet needs, general health care and the administration of insulin.

Blood samples will be taken three times during the day, the results of which will be passed on the patients' doctors.

FIRST CENTRE

Lions Gate Hospital in North Vancouver had the first diabetic day care centre in British Columbia, the results of which encouraged Victoria's doctors and Royal Jubilee to instigate such a program here.

At times, Royal Jubilee has as many as 35 diabetics in its wards, some of whom are there

Soviet Sailors Show Smooth Style

By BILL THOMAS

The Soviet Navy chorus and dancers should not be compared with their army counterparts. They are just not the same as the Red Army Chorus. Their talents are of another type as they proved to a good house in Memorial Arena Monday.

"I hope this was a misquote. This sounds like the plan of someone with an itch to spend Oak Bay taxpayers' money, unnecessarily."

It is not fair we should be subjected to this kind of letter," Ald. Wallace told council. "I don't see why she should be in a snit just because she doesn't use it. We've had hundreds of letters from athletic clubs and the little leagues."

Committee chairman Ald. J. D. Watt said council encouraged ratepayers to write in.

ENTITLED

Ald. Alex Hendry felt everyone is entitled to his own opinion. He recommended a letter be sent saying that $20,000 had been set aside for the first phase.

The project was proposed because it was "necessary," he said.

"We are not a group of people out to spend people's money. Council is elected to look after the municipality's money and I think we are doing a good job," said Ald. Wallace.

In other business, the committee recommended:

- Permission for H. H. Brown, 2212 Cranmore, to remove a boulevard tree from the front of his home and replace it at his own expense.
- Victoria be asked to extend the no-parking area in front of the Foul Bay Safeway store to the southern boundary of the property.

World Cup Champions Lose Last Ski Races

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. — It was anti-climatic at Heavenly Valley Sunday as the last World ski meet of the year came to a close.

Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., and French ace Jean-Claude Killy had already locked up their second successive titles and France took the Nation's Cup team trophy.

On top of that, both Miss Greene and Killy had announced their retirements well in advance and neither won any of the events in which they were entered.

Killy was even robbed of the chance to ski one last time as an amateur against his greatest rival — Karl Schranz of Austria — when Schranz fell Saturday, strained some muscles in his left leg and withdrew from the final event.

Miss Greene wound up with 191 points compared with 159 for Isabelle Mir of France, 153 for Florence Sturer of France, 128 for Marielle Goitschel of France and 126 for Fernande Bochatay of Switzerland.

Killy, though well off his perfect form in last year's inaugural World Cup series, finished with 200 points. Dumond Giovannoli of Switzerland was second with 119 points followed by Herbert Huber of Austria with 112. Gerhard Denning of Austria with 102 and Edmund Brugmann of Switzerland and Guy Perrillat of France, tied with 80 points.

Neither of the individual champions had anything new to say concerning their retirements. Miss Greene repeated her plans to return to her studies at Notre Dame University at Nelson, B.C., and Killy saying only that he planned to spend some time with his family.

Miss Greene finished second in the final event, the women's slalom, with a time of 1:48.84 compared with the 1:48.31 posted by Gertrud Gabl of Austria in winning over two runs.

Killy was seventh in the men's slalom in the slow time of 1:47.68. The race was won by Vladimir Sebrich of Kyburz, Calif., with a combined time of 1:45.93 including an amazing second run of 59.81 seconds.

HOCKENHEIM, Germany (UPI) — Twice the world auto racing champion, shy and introspective Jim Clark recognized that fear is passenger in one of the world's most dangerous trades.

"One will probably never realize how much fear I have during a race," the man who had won more Grand Prix victories than any other driver once told an interviewer.

Death came to the 32-year-old "Flying Scot" Sunday on the Hockenheim Speed Track.

WHEELS FLEW OFF

His neck was broken and his skull fractured when his gold and red Lotus Ford left the track at 175 miles an hour and somersaulted into a tree. The car's front and rear wheels flew off in opposite directions and its mid-section crumpled off the tree.

The car was so smashed up the cause of the accident may never be known, but Clark's colleagues believed it was due to a mechanical failure.

Graham Hill, a former world champion, said he believed the car developed a defect in its steering system.

DOUBTS MISTAKE

"I doubt he made a mistake," Hill said. "He was a reliable driver and knew the Hockenheim course too well for that."

Chris Irwin, who was about 25 yards behind Clark, agreed "it looks like something mechanical."

"Suddenly Jim's car broke out," Irwin said.

Ironically, the accident happened on a straightaway. Clark had just brought the car out of the track's tricky "Shrimp's Head" curve.

CHOSE GERMAN RACE

Another irony was involved in the fact Clark could have been driving in the BOAC International 500 race at Brands Hatch, England. He chose the German race because he wanted to help win the European Formula 2 championship.

Both track officials and the Hockenheim prosecutor launched investigations.

Clark won world titles in 1963 and 1965. The latter year he also won the Indianapolis 500. He won his 25th Grand Prix race in South Africa this season to shatter the great Juan Manuel Fangio's lifetime mark of 24 wins.

Penticton Completes Title Quest

KAMLOOPS—Penticton Broncos defeated Kamloops Rockets 3-2, Monday to capture the B.C. Junior Hockey League best-of-seven final, 4-2, and advance against the Alberta winner, Edmonton Movers, in the Memorial Cup playdowns for the Canadian championship.

Adrian Blais scored the winning goal late in the final period before the 2,600 fans. Bob Mowat and Jack Taggart gave the Broncos a 2-0 lead but Ken Beggs and Randy Rota tied the game with goals 32 seconds apart in the final period, setting up Blais' winner.

Penticton plans to pick up Kamloops' goalkeeper Wally Denaut, Vernon defenceman and Tom Service and New Westminster forwards George Watson and Ray Wallis for the best-of-seven Edmonton series which starts Saturday in Penticton.

McKechnie Top Rookie

SEATTLE (AP) — Walt McKechnie, Phoenix Roadrunners centre, has been named rookie of the year in the Western Hockey League in a player vote.

McKechnie, 20, played in 67 games, scoring 24 goals and 30 assists for 54 points. He received 268 of a possible 360 votes.

Marv Edwards, Portland goalie, was second with 154 and Tony Esposito, Vancouver goalie, third with 140.

Series Resume Tonight

Mikita, Hull Reunited

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The possibility that scoring aces Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull will play on the same line developed Monday as Chicago Black Hawks prepared for their second game tonight against New York Rangers in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup quarter-finals.

The two, Mikita the scoring champion and Hull who contributed 44 goals this season, normally play on different lines, but coach Billy Reay teamed them in the later stages of the opener, which the Rangers won 3-1.

RANGERS CONFIDENT

Meanwhile, the Rangers are confident they will win the series although the absence of veteran Berne Geoffrion was announced Monday.

Geoffrion, longtime National Hockey League star, saw limited action in the first game. Now a stomach disorder bothered him all season has acted up again and he's lost for the rest of the playoffs.

Tonight's game is one of three on the National Hockey League's playoff schedule. In the others, the Montreal Canadiens play the Bruins at Boston and Los Angeles Kings play the North Stars at Minnesota. Montreal and Los Angeles each lead 2-0 in the best-of-seven series.

The Philadelphia-St. Louis series, tied 1-1, resumes Wednesday night at St. Louis.

MOST RESCHEDULED

Each of the games, except for the one in Boston, was rescheduled in deference to the late Dr. Martin Luther King. The Black Hawks-Rangers game originally had been scheduled for Sunday afternoon while the Kings-North Stars and Blues-Flyers games had been booked for Monday night.

The Black Hawks, winless in their last six regular season games, dropped the opener of their series to the Rangers 3-1 last Thursday night.

TOGETHER BRIEFLY

However, they showed to excellent advantage late in the game when Mikita, the league scoring titleholder, and Hull, the goal-scoring leader, were placed on the same line by Reay.

"Both clubs have played only one game in nine days," noted Emile Francis, the Rangers' manager-coach, "and that's not good. That's why we've been working out so hard."

HELPS BOTH

The rest is good for defencemen Jim Neilson and Rod Seling, who have had minor injuries. But it also helps the Hawks because Gilles Marotte has a bad knee and Mikita could use the rest too."

"The loss of anyone is tough in the playoffs, especially a guy like Geoffrion," Francis said. "You never replace a player like Geoffrion. You substitute for him."

The Boomers' numerical replacement is Bill Fairbairn, a young right winger up from Omaha of the Central Professional League.

Harry Sinden, the Bruins' coach, vowed that his club is going to play more aggressively against the Canadiens. "They're

Favorites Win In Island Golf

Defending champion Vaughan Trapp had the easiest time of the 16 winners Sunday in the first round of match play in the championship section of the Vancouver Island Open golf tournament at Uplands Golf Club.

The Victoria Golf Club professional swept past junior Brian Stott of Gorge Vale, 6 and 5.

"Brian was very good to me Sunday," Trapp said. "He wasn't playing very well and I expect I'll have a tougher time next Sunday at Gorge Vale."

Trapp is scheduled to meet tough Lex Sutcliffe, who defeated Cedar Hill's Greg Canish, 3 and 2, on his home course in the 16s.

Medalist Bill Wakeham fought off a tough challenge from Uplands' junior Mike Gray for a 2 and 1 victory as the other five professionals in the championship round all advanced.

Pro Bill Court and his assistant, Earl Davies, of Royal Colwood advanced with identical 3 and 2 victories over Gord Hay of Glen Meadows, and Al Macleod of Gorge Vale, last year's finalist, respectively.

Laurie Carroll, the driving instructor at Golflands and a two-time winner of the open, was one of two players to take victories on the 19th hole.

Carroll shot a bogey five on the first extra hole but won when young Uplands' competitor Roger Bishop had trouble getting his second shot out of a slight depression and took a double-bogey six.

Cec Ferguson of Gorge Vale defeated Ron Howarth of Colwood on the first extra hole after being down four at the turn.

Cowichan pro Norm Boden defeated Dave Mick of Gorge Vale, 5 and 4.

Royals Win Opener

VANCOUVER—Janos Hanek scored two goals here Sunday to lead Vancouver Royals to a 4-1 win over Toronto Falcons in the North American Soccer League season opener before 5,260 fans.

Hanek scored the only goal of the first half and then scored again seven minutes into the second half. Johnny Green and Lajos Vicsek scored the other Vancouver goals.

Oscar Lopez scored after 18 minutes of the second session to give Toronto its only goal.

Vancouver played most of the second-half with a two-man advantage after Branko Kubala and Jose Ponce of Toronto were sent off the field for rough play.

Billy Casper Falters Briefly Then Surges for Easy Win

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — In the 10th hole in the afternoon, Billy Casper surged back after dropping three strokes off the pace to shoot rounds of 69 and 66 for a 267 total Monday to win the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament by four shots.

BEST OF DAY

The 17-under-par performance equalled the event record set last year by George Archer, who tied for second with Gene Little and Bobby Nichols.

CLIMBS TO SECOND

Casper, a two-time U.S. Open champion, who led or tied for the lead after every round, won top money of $27,500 in the $137,500 tournament. It brought his official earnings for the year to $50,819, second on the list. He also has just under $18,000 in "unofficial" cash.

Casper fell three shots back of Don January during the morning round, but a couple of January bogeys and a Casper birdie left them tied after 54 holes at 201.

After he shot one over par on January, Archer and Al Geiberger, who shot 67-68,

January, faltering to a closing 73, tied at 274 with Gary Player and Miller Barber.

In his final trip around the course Casper closed to his lead with a birdie from 55 feet on the fifth hole and a birdie on the long sixth.

On the 14th he knocked in a 40-footer for a birdie three and he observed "it gave me more confidence, putting me out of reach of everyone."

GAME NEAR PEAK

Another birdie on 15 nailed down his second victory of the year, sending him into Thursday's Masters confident that his game is near its peak.

The victory was the second here for Casper, who won in 1962.

Archer and Nichols closed with 65s and Little with 67 to gain their second-place tie, worth $11,228 apiece.

No Boxla, Rodeos

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League apparently have learned a lesson in the baseball Red Sox loss of Jim Lonborg because of a skiing accident last winter. General manager Milt Schmidt of the Bruins said Sunday that players will not be permitted to participate in dangerous sports during the off-season.

He barred goalie Gerry Cheevers from playing lacrosse and winger John McKenzie from bronco riding in rodeos.

Blast Deaths Climb As Wreckage Sifted

RICHMOND, Ind. (UPI)—The toll of the Richmond explosion went to 42 Monday as workers kept up a search of the ruins for more bodies.

Authorities said 50 persons may have perished Saturday in the blast that shattered the center of this eastern Indiana community. Twenty persons still were on the missing list and officials presumed many were among the 17 unidentified dead.

Richmond Police Chief Daniel Strahan said he had no doubt the total number of dead would rise to 50 or more.

B.C. Facing Big Drop In Investment

OTTAWA (CP) — Capital spending in all sectors of the Canadian economy will increase by 4 per cent in 1968 according to a prediction by a comprehensive federal survey of investment intentions.

The survey foresees a better-than-expected year for construction, including a 10-per-cent increase in house building.

But whether the 4 per cent increase in total spending will mean a higher actual volume of activity is doubtful. Prices are currently increasing at an annual rate of about 4 per cent, and in residential construction the rate is more than 6 per cent.

REAL SIZE

This could make the 1968 program about the same real size as that of 1967, which in turn was slightly smaller than 1966.

The annual survey, prepared jointly by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics and the trade department, said the forecast 1968 program of $15,800,000,000 still represents a healthy chunk of new capital for the nation's stock.

ONLY B.C.

Regionally, only B.C. is expected to suffer an over-all drop in public and private spending this year. The decline is set at 6 per cent, and is blamed on the completion last year of major programs in the paper and utilities industries.

Increases elsewhere are estimated at 2 per cent in the Atlantic provinces, 5 per cent in both Quebec and Ontario, and 10 per cent in Prairie provinces.

It means that about 24 per cent of the country's total output of goods and services—the gross national product—is to be devoted to capital spending. The proportion would be well above the levels of less than 22 per cent in the early 1960s.

IN HOUSING

The increases are concentrated almost entirely in housing, schools, hospitals and assorted government projects. Business spending will be down about 1 per cent from 1967.

With the paper industry and iron mines past their 1966 building peaks, spending of the forestry and minerals sector will decline by $267,000,000 from the level of $1,503,000,000 last year.

The fuel and power sector, one area of strength this year, will spend more on power facilities, pipelines, gas distribution and oil refineries. Capital spending in the oil and gas fields will be steady with 1967.

The anticipated increase for the sector as a whole is 6 per cent, to $2,321,000,000.

MODERATE BOOSTS

Moderate increases are expected in secondary manufacturing industries and in the area of transportation, storage and communications.

Moderate declines appear in outlays of the agriculture and food-processing industries and in the provision of commercial facilities.

Legitimate Nuclear Use Praised

NEW YORK (CP)—Ambassador George Ignatieff of Canada said Sunday night the proposed non-nuclear treaty must couple prohibition of the spread of nuclear weapons with assurance non-nuclear countries will be able "to pursue legitimate development" of nuclear energy for peaceful use.

This must be done "without unnecessary impediments and restrictions" on peaceful use of such power, the Canadian ambassador to the United Nations said in a television panel discussion.

PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

Ignatieff was one of the principals in a 1½-hour program called Containing the Bomb presented by National Education Television, and including speakers here, in Washington and Boston.

Ignatieff noted that plutonium could be used in nuclear reactors, which Canada has the capacity to build and supply, or be made into weapons. Thus countries such as Canada "have to recognize that economically efficient nuclear projects can inadvertently but inevitably produce materials essential to a weapons capability."

VITAL SAFEGUARDS

For this reason, the proposed treaty worked out in Geneva by the 17-nation disarmament committee and to be debated in the UN later this month, must include safeguards which "are such a vital part of the whole program."

"The draft treaty which now has been submitted for our approval, we recognize, is only the first step which must be followed by others to put an end to an increase in the number of weapons and to lay a foundation for the gradual elimination of existing nuclear stockpiles."

Introduction of the bill followed tabling of the health and welfare committee's report on the plan.

The committee concluded that the province would not be able to meet the cost of other government services and medical care for the year 1968-69 and still maintain a balanced budget without increased taxes.

The committee recommended that legislation be enacted to allow the province to participate in the plan. The province should begin participation when it has completed satisfactory tax-sharing agreements with the federal government or has been assured more federal money and has set up additional provincial tax to meet the costs of the plan.

It said the province could not meet its future commitments in all fields without more federal money under a new tax-sharing agreement.

Racial Riot In Jail

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (AP)—

About 300 inmates rioted at the Maryland correctional institution Sunday night, setting fire to one building and causing heavy damage throughout the centre before being forced back into their cells.

One guard was seriously injured and several other guards and prisoners taken to hospital after the 75-minute disturbance.

Prison L. Fitzberger, head of the institution, said damage was extensive, with inmates breaking windows and "pretty well everything they could get their hands on."

Fitzberger said the incident appeared to have racial overtones, with fighting going on between white and Negro inmates.

Moderate increases are expected in secondary manufacturing industries and in the area of transportation, storage and communications.

Moderate declines appear in outlays of the agriculture and food-processing industries and in the provision of commercial facilities.

Early Start Due For Superport

DELTA (CP)—The key terminal of the proposed Roberts Bank superport in this municipality will be in operation by the end of next year, Howard Mann, chairman of the National Harbors Board, said Monday.

He made the comment during a news conference following a technical planning discussion among federal, provincial and municipal officials.

Mr. Mann and John Southworth, executive secretary of the British Columbia Harbors Board, said there has been, and will continue to be, full cooperation on the project by federal and provincial experts.

NO COMMENT

If a hitch develops it will be on the political level and not at the engineering and planning levels, they said.

Neither commented on Transport Minister Hellyer's statement that Ottawa will build the port which conflicts with Premier W. A. C. Bennett's insistence that B.C. will build the harbor.

Mr. Mann said the NHB will be calling tenders for initial dredging and filling work within the next few weeks because work must begin soon or the construction deadline will be missed.

"Time is the most important factor simply because a $650,000,000 contract to supply coal to Japan depends on this facility being ready by the end of 1969," he said.

Mr. Mann and Mr. Southworth said there are enough points of agreement such as location, type and completion deadline to allow technicians to proceed on a "build now, quarrel later" philosophy.

Asked about controversial expropriation proceedings in obtaining land for the project, Mr. Southworth said the same formula is being applied as in other cases in which the provincial government needs privately-owned property.

"We are offering prices for the land based on provincial evaluations," he said. "But we certainly don't object to anyone appointing a lawyer to represent him or having his land evaluated by some other agency."

Symphony Ends 27th Season

Final-Program Choice Too Doleful

By BERT BINNY

The Victoria Symphony orchestra brought its 27th season to a close with concerts on Sunday afternoon and Monday evening.

The program consisted of two masses, Mozart's Requiem and Haydn's so-called Lord Nelson Mass.

Except on the rather slender pretext that a mass is possibly an appropriate accompaniment to the death and burial of even a concert season, the choice of this rather lugubrious program is difficult to understand. Perhaps internal business considerations such as the assembling of the required artists had something to do with it, but the fact remains that it is a good idea to finish up on a cheerful note.

The attendance was far from outstanding at either performance, an ill which may very well have been compounded on Monday night by the rival attraction of the Soviet Navy program at Memorial Arena.

The orchestra was joined by the Victoria Choral Society under Rodney Webster. The singers did not always come over a clearly as one would have liked and there were even occasions when their sound was musically doubtful. They lacked nothing, however, in spirited attack.

Most pleasing of the four soloists was contralto Gloria Doubleday whose lovely, effortless singing lifted the whole performance into the realms of melody and beauty without deserting the mood of the program.

Canadian soprano Audrey Farnell was thoroughly acceptable in the classical style.

The tenor soloist was Richard Loney and the bass, Maurice Brown, the latter appearing more at home in this type of music.

Advance notices of next year's attractions include a guest conductor, three violinists and five pianists, hailing from as far away as Israel, Czechoslovakia and the Soviet Union.

Motorist Acted Like 'A Fleeing Cur'

A 23-year-old motorist who left a woman lying injured on the street after knocking her down with his car ran away "like a fleeing cur," Magistrate William Ostler said in central magistrate's court Monday.

Magistrate Ostler fined James Helm of 640 Dallas $500 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident and $100 for failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian. Helm, who pleaded guilty, was prohibited from driving for two years.

Prosecutor Peter Birkett said Helm slowed down approaching Mrs. Mildred Stetako as she crossed Fort at Pemberton about 8:15 p.m. March 30.

The woman stopped on the crosswalk and then walked again, court was told. Helm pulled the wheel of his car to the right and struck the woman. He panicked and drove on, abandoning his car on St. Charles.

About two hours later, Helm told city police that his car had been stolen, but later admitted he was driving at the time.

Magistrate Ostler described Helm's conduct as "contemptible, cowardly and disgraceful," adding: "You were running away like a fleeing cur."

Mrs. Stetako suffered minor concussion in the accident.

Born Andersen, 26, of 2951 Craigowan will be committed for trial today on charge of raping a 21-year-old girl Feb. 24 at Theta Cove. Magistrate Ostler delayed the committal so bail could be arranged.

The crown closed its case Monday after a three-day hearing.

Maximum Penalty

The maximum fine of $50 was imposed on Edwin Young of 733 Lompson who dumped garbage March 3 in front of yard of home of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Rankin at 1440 Craigflower.

Mr. Birkett said the garbage included milk cartons, egg cartons and other household refuse. The garbage was traced to Mr. Young when names of two of his family were found in it.

Young said: "It was just ignorance in my case."

Magistrate Ostler said it was a "sleazy trick."

Three motorists were fined $350 each and had their licences suspended when they pleaded guilty to impaired driving during the weekend.

Fined were Edward Curtis of 110 Menzies, Revelle Gahan of 226 Simcoe and Joseph Billsborough of 275 Niagara.

A 19-year-old youth was fined a total of $140 following an accident March 3 in which his car struck a tree in Lovers' Lane and a 15-year-old boy was injured.

Lorne Hamilton of 107 Cook was fined $100 for dangerous driving, $25 for not having a driver's licence and $15 for being a minor without insurance. He pleaded guilty.

Saturday Argument

Ronald Gardner, 22, of 1761 Hautain, had an argument with people he had been drinking with Saturday night and chased them out of a house in the 1200 block Pembroke, court was told.

Gardner pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by being drunk and was fined $25.

Also fined $25 for causing a

Films, Drinks Up in the Air

WASHINGTON (AP)—United States domestic airlines plan to begin charging $2 per head set for in-flight movies and $1 a drink for all passengers beginning May 1. The plan is in line with a Civil Aeronautics Board ruling that reasonable sums must be charged so passengers who do not use the services will not pay for them.

Allan Williams, 20, of 1252 Montrose, was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in licensed premises while a minor.

John Gerrow, 19, of Work Point Barracks, and Arthur Jones, 19, of 721 Daffodil, were fined $35 each for being minors in possession of liquor.

Fined for careless driving: Frederick Palmer, 4436 Torquay, $35, licence suspended; Mary Scott, 940 Walena, $40; Hugh Smith, 450 Simcoe, $35.

Three motorists were fined $10 each for squealing their car tires. They were Alexander Campbell of 1724 Foul Bay, Richard Matthews of 3384 Whittier, and Hal Pederson of HMCS St. Croix.

Lawyer Honored

Barrister Lloyd G. McKenre of Victoria, has been inducted as fellow of American College of Trial Lawyers. It was announced in Coronado, Calif., Saturday. Fellowships are open to about one cent of the lawyers in North America, the college said.

Family Woes Probed

Deserted mothers and juvenile delinquency will be two of the subjects discussed by a panel of five at the annual meeting of the Family and Children's Service on Saturday.

Subject of the discussion will be Your Family: How Close to Breakdown? Panel members will be Bishop Remi de Roo; Dr. Robert Halliday; Mrs. Gwen C. Lundy; Neil McDiarmid and Dr. Hugh Borsman.

Allen Williams, 20, of 1252 Montrose, was fined $50 when he pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in licensed premises while a minor.

Red Asks Trudeau To Clarify Policies

Pierre Elliott Trudeau hasn't made himself clear on economic policies or national unity, the national leader of the Communist party of Canada said in Victoria at the weekend.

"Now that Mr. Trudeau is leader of the government, I hope he will enunciate a clear position on these fundamental questions," William Kashan said in an interview.

Mr. Kashan said he would continue, the new prime minister would advocate a more fundamental change in economic policy and relate it to the need to overcome the persistent regional inequalities which obstruct the unity of the country and foster tendencies toward division and separation.

NATIONAL UNITY

Mr. Trudeau should also make his position clear on national unity, he said, "the establishment of an equal, voluntary partnership of the French and English-speaking peoples in our country."

"Making it an issue largely of language evades what is really at the heart of the crisis of Confederation, that of the recognition of the existence of two nations and the sovereign right to the French Canadian nation within a united Canada."

One would hope, he continued, the new prime minister would advocate a more fundamental change in economic policy and relate it to the need to overcome the persistent regional inequalities which obstruct the unity of the country and foster tendencies toward division and separation.

NATIONAL UNITY

Mr. Trudeau should also make his position clear on national unity, he said, "the establishment of an equal, voluntary partnership of the French and English-speaking peoples in our country."

OWN HOUSE

"He is alleged to have said he is against economic nationalism. I take that to mean he doesn't want to be kind to Canadian sovereignty and independence, including the right of Canadians to be masters in their own house. If this isn't his position, he should make it clear," Mr. Kashan said.

The new Liberal leader hasn't made his position clear, either with respect to the need to establish policies of consistent economic expansion and growth, the Communist leader said.

"So far we have been afflicted by a stop-and-go policy from the Liberal government, and its end result has been rising unemployment, prices, taxes and continuing inflation."

One would hope, he continued, the new prime minister would advocate a more fundamental change in economic policy and relate it to the need to overcome the persistent regional inequalities which obstruct the unity of the country and foster tendencies toward division and separation.

Victoria Scrapyard Buys Old Rail Ship

The 50-year-old former rail car ferry, S.S. Canora, will have her fate decided by the Victoria ship-scraping firm of Morris Greene Industries, which purchased the 308-foot steamer from the Canadian National Railways for an undisclosed sum.

The ship will be brought to Victoria for closer examination before a decision is made on what to do with the 2,383-ton ferry, a firm official said.

Zoning

"Zoning is for the protection of the individual not to be used as a club to force the will of the municipality upon the public," G. V. Laurenson, 507 Head, told Esquimalt council Monday.

He was asking council to clean up a lot beside his home, and spoke after Ald. A. B. Young told him he had to expect noise and unsightliness because the municipally-owned lot is zoned industrially.

Mr. Laurenson said his family suffers from the noise, and the matter wound up with council referring the case to its public works committee for debate and on-site inspection.

Delayed

The Agnew, Peckham report on Greater Victoria's long-term hospital needs will be available May 1, two weeks later than originally planned.

Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich announced Monday Dr. Harvey Agnew, one of the report's authors, could not be in Victoria for the proposed April 17 release.

The report is expected to detail about $50,000,000 worth of new hospital construction needed in the capital region district.

St. Joseph's Economy DriveDoctors' Help Asked
In Reducing Expenses*By JOHN MATTERS

St. Joseph's Hospital Monday asked the doctors who practice there to join its staff in a general economy and efficiency drive.

"We just cannot go on the way it is," said Dr. Ernest Van Tilburg, the hospital's executive director. "We must go a little slower."

A letter to doctors asking them to cut back on the paperwork they require of nurses is the latest in a series of belt-tightening moves that started about a year ago.

The objective has been to eliminate every form, step, telephone call or memorandum that does not have a direct and crucial bearing on the standard of patient care.

Dr. Van Tilburg said St. Joseph's, which had a heavy operating deficit in 1966, intends to analyze the service it gives in terms of needs instead of demands.

The 1967 financial statements have not yet been released.

Because of hospital bed shortages here, it was caring for patients who needed much more intensive levels of care than even two or three years ago.

He said that while his letter

Esquimalt Accusers Unspecified
Alderman Denies Charge
Of Apartment 'Interest'

By NANCY BROWN

In a surprise development at an Esquimalt council public hearing Monday, Ald. Roy Elphick said he has been accused of having a financial interest in a proposed Esquimalt apartment, and invited unspecified accusers to prove it.

Ald. Elphick, chairman of planning and zoning for the municipality, said, "I have been accused of having a financial interest in this."

"There is provision in the Municipal Act for pursuing this."

INVITED TO PROVE

"I invite those who made such allegations to prove that I, or any member of council or the staff, is involved."

Ald. Elphick's remarks came after Mayor Ray Bryant decided the public should have a hearing during first reading of a bylaw to give multiple dwelling zoning to an area bounded by Craigflower, Phoenix, Colville and Fleming.

The bylaw was referred to committee after a public hearing three weeks ago, because of lack of public information on a proposed apartment block.

Ald. Elphick was not mentioned during the hearing three weeks ago, nor on Monday, and he did not name any accusers.

Ald. Elphick said that since the complaints, he had conducted an intensive inquiry, and members of the staff had been "interrogated." He was satisfied that they had not withheld information.

INSUFFICIENT AREA

Alex Joannisse, 878 Colville, said the complaints weren't about the staff, but about the fact that there was no information.

Jane Voss, 887 Phoenix, said Ms. property value would drop, because the proposed apartment would leave houses on Phoenix with insufficient area for further apartment development.

An increase in property values would only apply for a multiple dwelling zone, if property could be sold for apartment use.

In his case a developer would have to acquire too many houses and lots to make an apartment economically feasible, unless the houses were low-priced.

LEAVE AREA

Both he, and Mr. Joannisse said they were afraid they would have to sell their houses for what they could get, and move out of the area.

John Kezire, 319 Island Highway, said the development would bring an annual tax revenue of up to $20,000 to Esquimalt, in what is at present considered to be depressed area.

He questioned if present property owners, some of whom have large families, pay enough taxes

Kezire's remarks applied to him.

"It is very easy for people who feel they have something to gain to say we are not carrying the load, and that we should step aside for other people to perhaps make a little bundle on this."

He felt it should not be treated as a strictly financial proposition that council should consider the people who have homes in the area.

Mr. Joannisse also questioned whether the present combined police-fire set-up would be able to cope with the apparent trend towards more apartments in Esquimalt.

PAT FOR OTHERS

He was afraid that eventually the necessity of additional men and equipment would mean that his taxes would increase to pay for protection for apartments.

Ald. Gerald Horne assured him that the fire committee will watch the situation.

Ald. William Bell said he felt council's responsibility was towards people living in the municipality before developers.

GOOD PEOPLE

"A few dollars on the tax won't be worth losing the good people we have living here now."

The bylaw passed three readings and committee stage with Ald. Bell the lone dissenter.

School Board Move 'This Year'Castle Stay Nearly Ended

By BILL STAVDAL

The Greater Victoria school board will occupy the entire Lansdowne campus of the University of Victoria this year and pull out of Craigdarroch Castle after a 33-year stay.

The move will simultaneously:

- Centralize the administration and services of the school district.

Fisherman Tells All

John Fry will speak and show pictures on his South American visit, as winner of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest, to a public meeting at 8 p.m. today at 303 Brunswick Place, former site of the Marigold NDP Club. Mr. Fry visited Mexico, Ecuador, Chile, Peru and Columbia.

Government assent is necessary under the University Act.

The school board now leases the Ewing Building as the home of the Institute of Adult Studies, a second-chance high school for adults. The lease expires at the end of June.

NEW LEASE

The new lease will officially put the school board into the old brick Young Building, former site of the Provincial Normal School and Victoria College.

Amount of the new lease will be $90,000 per year, less what the board spends on renovations and maintenance, said Mr. Bunn.

Third structure on the campus, the Paul Building, was bought by the school board and occupied as its headquarters a year ago.

Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the University, commented Monday:

CHIEF HAPPY

"It's very exciting to see that the school board needs the campus for its Institute of Adult Studies. It's a very worthwhile program."

Mr. Bunn predicted the school board would be out of Craigdarroch Castle "before the end of the year."

The board said last year it expected to use Craigdarroch Castle as an annex for up to five years.

The castle, completed in 1889 by coal baron Robert Dunsmuir, is now used as a teachers' information centre, a library of supplementary readers, a teaching aids supply depot and office space.

Mayor We Are Together

Mayor Hugh Stephen Monday welcomed Greater Victoria municipal leaders into the charmed circle.

No longer is Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich, Reeve Ray Bryant of Esquimalt and Reeve Fred Hawes of Oak Bay.

As the result of Royal Assent Saturday to an amendment to the B.C. Municipal Act, the title "mayor" supplants "reeve" and in nomenclature, at least, all the leaders are on an equal basis.

The change in title will also apply to Reeve R. G. Lee of Central Saanich and Reeve J. B. Cumming of Central Saanich.

Sidney's Mayor Arthur Freeman already had the title.

The amendment also changes the title "councilor" to "alderman" to make civic titles uniform throughout the province in cities, towns, villages and district municipalities.

When the school board vacates the castle will revert to the city of Victoria.

We should find a living community use for it.

"I can't commit my council, but I shall be making recommendations."

A delegation from the music school approached the school board last December, seeking a commitment. The school is at 415 Pandora.

James K. Nesbitt, president of the Craigdarroch Castle Society, said "I think the school of music should go there."

Mr. Nesbitt said the society could furnish the main floor of the castle in period furniture and open it to the public, leaving the upper stories to the music school.

"We shall, of course, point out to the mayor that the Victoria School of Music is interested in having the castle."

Mayor Hugh Steven said: "I certainly think that housing the Victoria School of Music is a very logical use for the castle."

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our nine-year-old son has been taking his father's $5 neckties to school and selling them for 20 cents apiece. The mother of Ronnie's schoolmate brought two ties over today and asked me if I recognized them. I nearly died.

My husband complained last week that some of his ties were missing and for the life of me I could not figure out what had happened to them. Now I know. Should I tell my husband and let him handle it? (He is much more strict than I, and he might be awfully hard on the boy.) Or, should I keep my husband out of it and deal with the boy in my own way? Please advise.

—THE SALESMAN'S MOTHER.

Dear Mother: Discipline should be the job of both parents. Don't say, "Wait until your father comes home . . . etc. . ." Simply confront the boy in his father's presence and decide together what the punishment should be.

He Hasn't Called Since

Dear Ann Landers: I have been going steady with a very nice man for two years. We are both single and in our mid-thirties. Two months ago Jack borrowed $10 from me. He said he'd pay me back in a few days. He hasn't called me since.

The money is extremely unimportant compared to the two years we shared. I'd be very happy to forget about the $10 and consider it a gift. Last week I telephoned Jack twice to talk things over. Both times he was very rude and seemed to be in a hurry to get off the phone.

Jack's birthday is next month, and of course Easter is coming up. We always celebrated these occasions together. Shall I mail him a card or a friendly note or perhaps a little gift? I feel that I want to send him something. What do you suggest?—SUDDEN JOLT

Dear Jolt: Send him a bill—and forget about the creeps.

Togetherness Misfires

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter is 18 and attractive. My husband is 53, bright, pleasant, but somewhat on the rigid side. When they began to ski together I was delighted because I saw a chance for dad and daughter to have a closer relationship. He has always been a bit stand-offish with her and I know she was aware of his coolness. Instead of becoming better friends as a result of the ski trip, they seem to be quarreling constantly.

The girl believes her father should open doors for her, help her with her ski shoes, pick up things she drops in public, and so on. He feels this is nonsense. According to him, the difference in their ages, as well as the filial relationship makes the manners bit null and void. In fact, he insists that SHE should do these things for HIM.

Your opinion is wanted.

—TROUBLE ON THE SLOPES

Dear Trouble: Simply because people happen to be related does not excuse them from being courteous to one another. Manners are nothing more than consideration. Your husband should treat his daughter as he would any other young woman, and this means holding the door for her, helping her with her ski shoes and so on.

ERMA BOMBECK and the Jungle Beast

Women Quail at These Words!

There are a few phrases which actually strike terror in the hearts of women everywhere. One of them is "You're overdrawn!" Another is "Let's try a larger size!" And, of course, there's "It's not a virus madam, you're six months pregnant." As far as I'm concerned, though, right at the top of the list is "There's a mouse in the garage." Just the thought of it gives me asthma.

For the first few days, you're not sure. You can hear a movement behind the stack of screens, but you hope it's the garage falling off its foundation and not a rodent. Then, one day you're in the garage trying to locate your freezer (which is always behind something that's just been painted) when you see it.

I thought he took rather long with his decision. Finally, he moved slowly to the garage to set a trap. I watched him bait it.

"Are you out of your mind? That trap wouldn't snap off his toenails. What were those traps outside the cabin last year in Michigan? That's what we need."

"Those were bear traps," he said tiredly. "Make up your mind. You wanta trap a mouse or break the Avon lady's leg?"

That was a week ago. Every day the mouse feeds at the trap, sometimes bringing friends. He continues to get healthier and more brazen by the day. Can you stave off the attack? Can you escape to the safety of the kitchen? You've got to try.

Leaning against the kitchen door, gasping for breath, I told my husband what I had just seen.

"I did not move to the city to be bedfellows with savage, untamed beasts," I snapped.

He returned from the garage and said, "It is not a savage, untamed beast. It is a mouse approximately one and one quarter inches long and it is somewhere in the garage having a heart attack."

"That's it," I growled, "take the side of the animals. You know the trouble with you? You think every animal you meet is Gentle Ben. I'm telling you that rat was after me. Once they get a taste of human flesh, they go crazy. Look, it's either me or the rat!"

and demand his own television series.

As for me, there is no need for me to go into the garage at all anymore. I depended too much on my car for transportation. As it is, I do more walking, thus enabling myself to get into better physical condition.

This is important when you live in the jungle.

PERSONAL MENTION

By Dorothy Wrotnowski

The very word mystery conjures up the idea of something exciting and surrounded in secrecy. And of course that is what it does mean, secret.

So when a group of congenial friends boarded that bus at Mayfair on Saturday evening on a mystery trip they didn't really know where they were going. Other than the arrangers, that is.

And they didn't know their destination until their arrival at Shawnigan Beach Inn.

"We had a ball," says Darcy Haddock who was one of the instigators of the second mystery trip taken by this group.

Seventy-Five Take Trip

Along on the party were Darcy and Donna Haddock, Norm and June Christian, John and Leona Merrifield, Willie and Esther Janzen, Ron and Shirley Pringle, John Johansson, Gail Miller, George and Betty Beecroft, Del Guest, Catherine Frost, Bill Hennis, L. Edge, David and Carol Paton, Bob and Linda Pearson, Dave and Anne Carey, David and Sylvia Pemberton, Chuck and Louise Dumaresq, Barney and Joyce Frederiksen, Norm and Coral Winklant, Norm and Marj Watson, Don and Rita Fisher, Stan and Eileen Bell, Bob Winquist, Bill and Judy Boden, Derek Mercer and Gail Green, John and Beverly Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Bell, Sr., Julian and Tracy Sammut, Bob and Betty Clarke, Dave Young and Judy Greggor.

Gerry and Dot Lavender,

First-Time Baby Sitter

Joy Mutter was enjoying her first-time baby sitting for her first grandson, Mrs. J. W. Weston out at their Prospect Lake home on Monday.

I phoned because it was Joy as agricultural convenor who had arranged for the Craigflower Women's Institute to tour the Bally's Orchid greenhouse recently. I was with them that day for a short time but couldn't stay for the interesting time.

For instance, I wasn't there when Helen Lauritsen won the orchid. Everyone was pleased as it was Helen's birthday.

A visitor accompanying the WI tour was Mrs. W. Sinclair Tayton of Invermere who is staying in Cheltenham Court

Keep Orchids in Cool Spot

Mr. Bailey told the visitors how best to keep an orchid back in its box and in a cool place. And when you wear an orchid corsage the flower should be up, not down.

Mr. Bailey says he is writing a book on bridal etiquette. It should be good.

He won't, for instance, put a mauve orchid in a bride's bouquet. White is a bride's color — he is adamant about that.

The old adage about mothers-in-law, Mr. Bailey agrees with. He says that he has no trouble dealing with brides-to-be but their mothers are a different story.

There is a wishing well in the orchid house—the money goes to the George Pearkes Rehabilitation Centre.

Craigflower Women's Institute members are proud of the way their centennial project has gone over. It is a history of Craigflower, condensed in a little booklet and was the brain child of Mrs. J. E. Goodman.

This little booklet has gone over very well and is still selling.

Today is April 9 and therefore the day of the coffee party and bake sale out at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin in Metchosin where the lilies grow in profusion in the church grounds.

Brave Smile Dissolves into Tears for Mrs. King

King. At left, she rallies a brave smile early in ceremony. But the tears soon came and remained.

'Angry Voices' of Postwar Years

British Change Traced

A distinguished scholar and academic, born up-island at Duncan, but raised and educated in England, Monday told the Women's Canadian Club that Britain's social changes had brought about a radically new informality.

"That is why," she smiled, "I have the effrontery to appear before you today—without a hat!"

The speaker was Mrs. Estelle Serpell of London, tutor at London University and a former associate professor of extramural studies at Nanyang University in Singapore.

alive. But around 1953 the young people coming up, were appalled by our attitude, and that's when the 'angry young men' appeared."

First of these was John Osborne who wrote Look Back In Anger in 1956, she said, and he talked "in a new and furious voice, challenging the elders and formerly securely held opinions."

Mrs. Serpell, who is currently giving a diploma course in English literature in London, spoke in the McPherson Playhouse to a capacity audience.

"The last 25 years have brought about what I call an equalitarian way of living. England is no longer the bastion of class," said the speaker.

Mrs. Serpell felt that the changes were due to the aftermath of the war, shift in economic structure and the new state education policy.

Because of this there had been an explosion in paperback printing. She said hardcover books were now a luxury in England where most paperbacks were sold at under $1 and even university text books sold in paperback at under $2.

"The erudite works are now available to everyone."

Mrs. Serpell proceeded to name the English books that she felt were well written, and carried the most information about contemporary life and thought in England.

Mrs. Serpell's speech was well received by the audience.

After the meeting, Mrs. Serpell was interviewed by the Victoria Times Colonist.

And Nobody Won!

Day of Tension And Heartbreak

By SUSAN BECKER
OTTAWA (CP) — It was a long day of tension and heartache Saturday for the six wives of major Liberal leadership candidates and their families.

Seated in box seats in the civic centre, just above the deity arena floor packed with delegates, reporters and cameras, the women spent seven hours in the heat and glare of floodlights watching their husbands' hopes dashed by ballot.

Mrs. Eric Kierans, wife of the former Quebec cabinet minister, was the first to see her husband withdraw.

Dressed in the Kierans colours — a dark blue suit and shocking pink blouse — she stood by her husband, smiling wanly, answering questions and shaking hands.

External Affairs Minister Martin's withdrawal made some women members of his entourage weep openly. But his wife, Eleanor, and daughter, Mary-Ann, kept the show going.

Mrs. Martin retired somewhat after the first hubbub. Her daughter, after giving Mr. Martin a big hug and kiss, bit her lip as her father's supporters sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

When Transport Minister Hellyer next gave support to a rival, Robert Winters, the former trade minister, their wives spoke for a few minutes in the Winters' booth.

Mrs. Hellyer, a tall, blonde woman in black suit and white blouse with a large ruffle at the high neck, maintained the stately elegance which seems a part of her nature.

Petite Mrs. J. J. Greene, dressed in a bright yellow suit, was the next to watch her husband, the agriculture minister, walk over to give his support to another — Justice Minister Trudeau.

Bill 33 Rally Hears Strike Chant

VANCOUVER (CP) — Shouts for walkouts and a general strike punctuated the British Columbia Federation of Labor's rally to protest the provincial government's controversial Bill 33 Sunday.

Most of the crowd of 2,300 appeared satisfied with the federations' plan to continue a fund drive against the bill's strike ban clause in the courts, if necessary, and to defeat the Social Credit government that introduced it at the polls.

POLITICAL VIEW

Paddy Neale, secretary of the Vancouver Labor Council, drew cheers from both militants and the rest of the crowd when he said he wished money used to fight other labor laws had been spent on political action.

"We must refuse to accept the arbitrary compulsion in Bill 33," he said. "The building trades unions told the government — and I'm sure other unions will follow suit — that they are not going to accept arbitration and that if one union is hit with it they'll all go out on strike."

The rally was attended by national leader Tommy Douglas of the New Democratic Party, Opposition Leader Robert Strachan and five of his colleagues from the British Columbia legislature.

HEADINED

Mr. Strachan reminded the trade unions that the "controversial sections" of the bill will not be put into effect until the cabinet decides they are needed.

"I suppose the cabinet is waiting for some unfortunate person to head the mediation commission," he said.

And he warned Bill 33 will not prevent strikes: "Laws or no laws, when there's a dispute and workers' decide to the bricks, that's exactly what they are going to do."

BIG BROTHER

"Eventually the bill's compulsory arbitration will lead to a situation where both labor and management have no incentive to settle disputes — big government will decide."

"Once we accept compulsory arbitration we are accepting wage control. And once we have this, then in fairness to the workers there must be price and profit controls — but there's no indication of that."

$1,000 FINES

Federation president Al Staley said no fair-minded man will agree to serve as chairman of the mediation commission created by the bill because of its powers on compulsory arbitration and the maximum $1,000 fines that can be assessed individual strikers.

He was cheered when he said that the first time compulsory arbitration or fines are imposed the full resources of the federation will be mobilized.

No Sweat This Summer?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Paddy Neale, secretary-treasurer of the Vancouver Labor Council, said Monday the British Columbia government is not likely to use Bill 33 in any labor disputes this summer.

"I think it's going to be a cool summer, not a long hot one," he said. Bill 33 allows the cabinet to refer labor disputes to a mediation commission for binding arbitration.

Mr. Neale said the bill could be used in negotiations involving 26,000 coastal lumber workers but he said it is not likely a coastal strike would last long if there is one.

A six-month strike by the International Woodworkers of America still is running in Southern Interior B.C. but Mr. Neale quoted Labor Minister Leslie Peterson as saying Bill 33 wouldn't be used in it.

The bill will go into effect when the cabinet declares it lawful.

MacEachen's 'Error' Wasn't

Grit Voting Manoeuvre Outfoxed Hellyer

OTTAWA (CP) — Health Minister Allan MacEachen appeared to have bungled his official withdrawal from the Liberal leadership race Saturday.

But the apparent mistake was deliberately planned in a manoeuvre to stop Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, informants disclosed Monday.

The background to the situation is that MacEachen, a reformer, regarded Hellyer as the most conservative candidate for the leadership.

Beyond this, Hellyer at a Halifax candidates' meeting had publicly questioned medical care insurance, MacEachen's baby.

Moreover, Hellyer's armed forced unification policy when he was defence minister had hurt the Liberals in Nova Scotia.

MacEachen, Nova Scotia's representative in the cabinet, for these and other reasons had no wish to see Hellyer as prime minister.

Now we come to the situation after the first ballot at the Liberal convention Saturday.

Originally, Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland was ready to support MacEachen on the first ballot. This support was later to be transferred if necessary to Justice Minister Trudeau, the eventual winner, to give Trudeau a surge on the second ballot.

the first ballot and gave him a comfortable if not insurmountable lead.

MacEachen got only 165 votes on the first ballot, a big disappointment to him. He was four votes behind Agriculture Minister J. J. Greene.

The health minister wanted to throw his support immediately to Trudeau, which he did, delivering about 80 per cent of his delegates to justice minister.

But External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and Eric Kierans, former Quebec health minister, also withdrew after the first ballot.

This meant Greene would be immediately knocked out. After the three withdrawals, he was the low candidate with 165 votes. After each ballot, the low man is dropped for the next round of voting.

Greene's support came mainly from the Prairies, and especially from Saskatchewan. Senator A. H. McDonald had publicly stated that Saskatchewan Premier Ross Thatcher would support Hellyer, though Thatcher said later he was not supporting any candidate officially.

Hellyer

In any event, it seemed apparent that Greene's delegates would shift to Hellyer.

Thus some means had to be devised to keep Greene in for the second ballot to prevent a voting switch on the Prairies to Hellyer.

The means turned out to be relatively simple because Greene wanted to stay in for the same reason: To keep his votes from going to Hellyer.

MacEachen simply delayed his official withdrawal. It was taken to Senator John Nichol, convention chairman, two minutes after the deadline for official withdrawals.

Consequently, MacEachen's name remained on the second ballot. He got only 11 votes—the number did not matter in this game—and was eliminated.

had to throw his support to Winters.

Greene lost nearly all his support on the third ballot, got only 29 votes and was eliminated. At the same time, Winters soared to 621 and Hellyer dropped to 377 and withdrew.

Whether Hellyer as runner-up could have beaten Trudeau will, of course, never be known.

But with their timing, MacEachen and Greene prevented Hellyer from getting that chance.

But the MacEachen-Greene manoeuvre kept Greene on the second ballot.

He lost strength but managed to hang on to 104 votes.

Former trade minister Robert Winters moved into second place ahead of Hellyer by eight votes—473 to 465. Hellyer had been runner-up on the first ballot.

Winters' move to second prevented Hellyer from successfully requesting Winters to support him as the man in the best position to stop Trudeau.

France Hails Trudeau's Win

'A Man of Great Stature'

From CP
PARIS (Reuters)—Government officials in Paris have welcomed the election of Pierre Elliott Trudeau as Canadian Liberal party leader to succeed Lester B. Pearson as prime minister, but declined to comment on future prospects for Franco-Canadian relations.

"He is a man of great stature," said one official Monday. "We can only judge him on his achievements."

Other comments and developments:

• René Levesque, an independent Quebec MLA, said in Montreal Trudeau is a "political virgin" who is "flippin' on the edges."

• In Quebec City, Louis St. Laurent, former Liberal prime minister, sent Trudeau "most sincere congratulations and very best wishes."

• Prime Minister Pearson maintained a non-partisan stance to the end in the Liberal leadership race. As Trudeau's victory was announced, Pearson and his wife neither smiled nor frowned. "I would have been pleased at any of them being elected," Pearson said.

• Quebec Premier Johnson refused to comment but congratulated Trudeau "on the confidence the Liberal party placed in you."

• External Affairs Minister Paul Martin says he has no thought of doing anything "but carrying on."

• When Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp withdrew from the leadership race last week he still had in his campaign inventory, and kept in his bathtub, $35 worth of peanuts and 100 pounds of cheese.

• Bruce Mackay, 46, minister without portfolio in the federal cabinet, is reported in satisfactory condition in hospital in Ottawa after suffering "a mild heart attack" at Saturday's Liberal leadership convention.

• A former prime minister making such a comment might be considered a bit impudent," he told a reporter. "Anything I said would be rather presumptuous."

John D Silent

OTTAWA (CP)—John Dieleman, a former Liberal leader, did not offer any public comment on the election of Pierre Elliott Trudeau as new national Liberal leader was welcomed Monday by Opposition Leader Robert Strachan.

The NDP leader said Mr. Trudeau displayed a philosophy of his own during the campaign and added if he carried this through after taking office he would be a "new kind of prime minister" who would be good for Canada.

Mr. Strachan refused to comment on whether Mr. Trudeau's election would hurt the NDP nationally.

Parliament Buzzer

RAF Charges Family Man

LONDON (Reuters) — The RAF has lifted a security curtain surrounding a daredevil, 400-mile-an-hour jet fighter plane flight Friday between the spans of Tower Bridge here.

The RAF announced that a 32-year-old father of four children, FO Alan Pollock, has been charged "in connection with an unauthorized flight over London."

He was released Sunday after three days under arrest while inquiries continued into the unscheduled acrobatic display.

It began when a Hawker Hunter jet fighter suddenly screamed across the houses of Parliament, bringing startled members scurrying outside.

The jet whizzed low along the River Thames and, while startled motorists watched in horror, dived between the roadway and the span on the bridge.

Then the plane disappeared into the sky and subsequently behind an embarrassed RAF security screen.

Quebec Plans Law Reforms

MONTREAL (CP) — The announcement by Jean-Jacques Bertrand, Quebec's justice minister, that the University of Montreal will undertake a large-scale investigation of the province's judiciary, adds weight to the belief that some reforms are in the offing.

No one can say just how far-reaching the reforms will be or when they will come.

But it seems evident that significant steps are being taken to overhaul Quebec's justice system, to modernize the composition, functions and procedures of the whole police-legal-court chain.

The study by the University of Montreal's Institute of Research in Public Law, announced 10 days ago by Bertrand in Sherbrooke, Que., is likely to complement findings of the Prevos royal commission inquiry into the administration of justice in criminal and penal matters.

A preliminary commission report is expected to be delivered to the provincial government by Chairman Yves Prevost by the end of this year.

Bertrand has also agreed that a 12-member advisory committee of the Quebec Bar—six judges, five lawyers and a notary—take on the task of studying certain projected legislation and make recommendations to the justice department.

Unconstitutional Says Supreme Court

Kidnap Law Loses Death Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The June 22, 1932. The death penalty provision was added in 1934.

The court's majority opinion agreed with a lower court that the act "imposes an impractical burden upon the exercise of a constitutional right."

"But we think the provision is severable from the remainder of the statute," the opinion said.

"There is no reason to invalidate the law in its entirety simply because its capital punishment clause violates the constitution," Stewart wrote.

Justice Byron R. White and Hugo L. Black dissented. Justice Thurgood Marshall did not participate in the ruling.

The test case arose in New Haven, Conn., where kidnapping indictments were brought against Charles "Batman" Jackson, Glenn W. A. DeLamotte and John A. Walsh Jr., charged with abducting John J. Grant.

The Lindbergh law was invoked against them because the victim was taken across state lines from Milford, Conn., to Alpine, N.J.

LAW CHALLENGED

Under the statute, named after the famous aviator whose infant son was kidnapped and murdered 35 years ago, the death penalty may be imposed if the victim is harmed and a jury recommends it.

The law was challenged on grounds that an accused person would have to subject himself to a possible death penalty if he requested a trial by jury.

If he waived the jury privilege, a judge could not sentence him to execution.

Dining Rights Upheld

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Supreme Court Monday gave the justice department the authority to bring criminal prosecution against anyone who assaults or intimidates Negroes exercising their constitutional right to eat in a public restaurant.

The court ruled 5 to 3 that the 1964 Civil Rights Act does not bar criminal prosecutions being sought against assailants "operating in the fashion of the Ku Klux Klan."

The act specifically provides only for a civil remedy, such as an injunction, against restaurant proprietors who refuse to serve Negroes.

"But the act does not purport

In a test case, the department had moved under an 1870 civil rights law which makes it an offence to deprive citizens of their federal rights.

Sinatra Grab

Woman Lawyer Cleared

LOS ANGELES (LAT) — Charges of testimony rigging filed against attorney Gladys Towles Root in the Frank Sinatra Jr. kidnapping trial were dismissed Monday, ending a four-year fight for vindication by the flamboyant woman lawyer.

Dismissal was ordered by U.S. district judge Peirson Hall after U.S. attorney Matt Byrne and Donald Farred, assistant U.S. attorney, joined in a dismissal motion filed earlier by the defence.

IN PINK The dismissal already had been entered when Mrs. Root, resplendent in pink, arrived in court with her lawyer, Morris Lavine.

The indictment, returned July 29, 1964, originally named her along with George A. Forde, her co-counsel in defending Joseph C. Amster and John W. Irwin, convicted along with Barry W. Keenan of the Dec. 8, 1963, kidnapping.

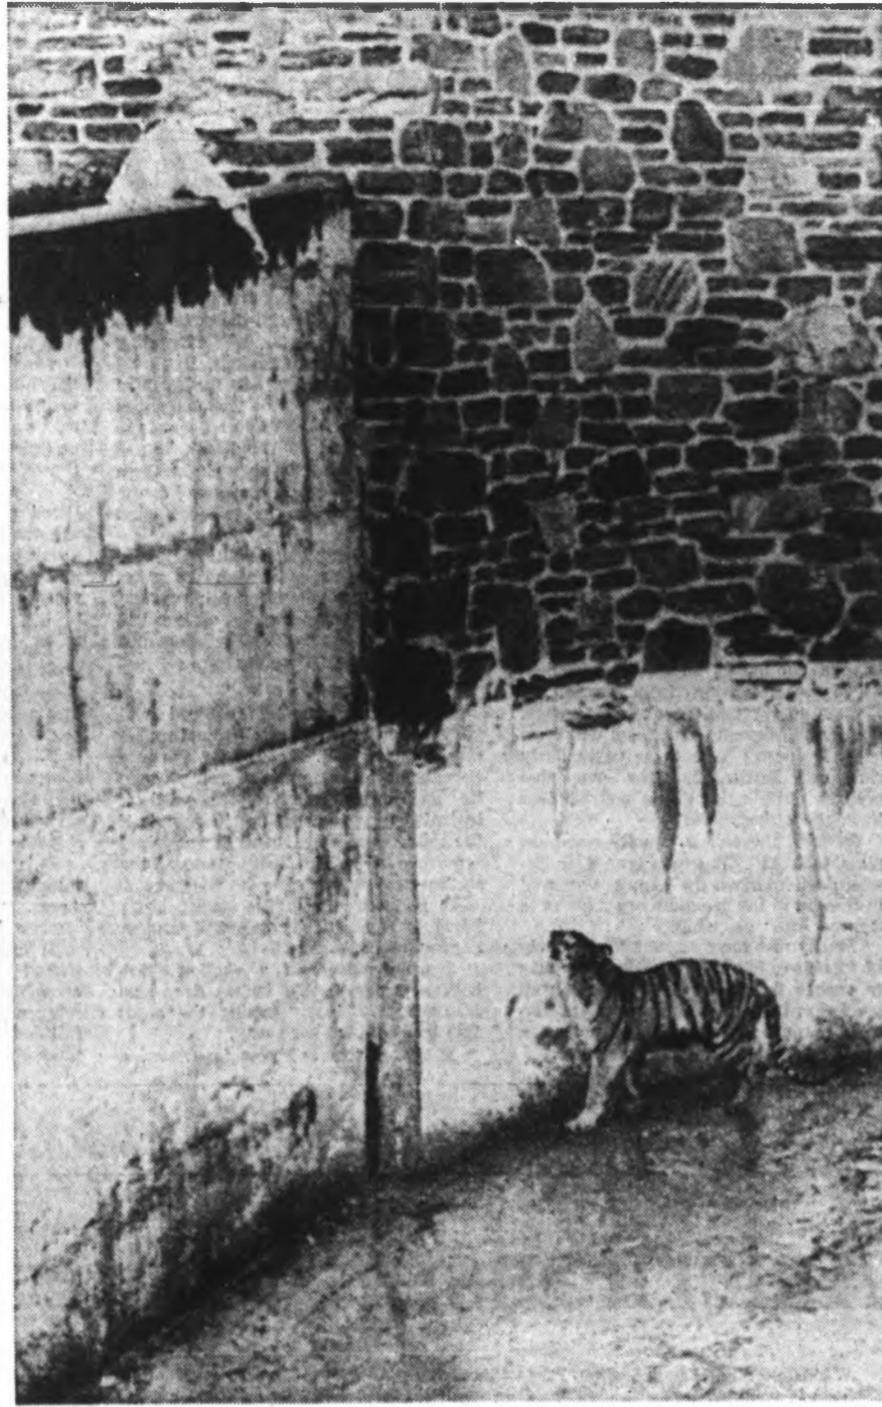

Twice indictments were dismissed by Judge Hall, but on the second occasion his action was reversed by the U.S. 9th Circuit Court.

CHARGES DROPPED

The following March 6, however, charges against Forde suddenly were dropped by the U.S. attorney, leaving Mrs. Root the sole defendant in the case.

But last spring, while charges against her were still pending, Lavine won new trials for Amster and Irwin on the ground the trial court erred in failing to allow them rights appropriate to a case in which the death penalty was possible.

BOTH MEN Both men later entered pleas of guilty to new indictments, and both have since been freed on probation. Keenan, who did not appeal, remains in prison.

New Methods Curb Riots

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I think lessons have been learned as a result of the riots last summer."

That comment, by President Johnson's riot trouble-shooter Cyrus Vance, appears to be borne out by reports from major cities that have experienced outbreaks of arson and looting during the past few days.

In Washington, Chicago, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and other cities where violence occurred following the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., troops and police responded with new techniques designed to bring riots under control with the least possible bloodshed.

The new techniques call for better training, better advance planning, better communication and mobilization of overwhelming numbers of police and troops in a trouble area, and minimum gunfire.

Restraint in the use of firearms is perhaps the most striking difference between the new approach to riot control and the methods used last summer in Newark and Detroit. In both of those cities, Police and national guardmen fired frequently — and sometimes indiscriminately — at looters and suspected snipers.

In Newark, an official count showed that state patrolmen and national guardsmen expended 13,326 rounds of ammunition in three days. Twenty-three persons were killed. No one kept track of the ammunition fired off in Detroit's six-day riot, but it was certainly numbered in many thousands. Forty-three persons were killed, including several who were indisputably innocent bystanders.

By contrast, not a single shot has been fired by the troops on duty in Washington since the rioting began Thursday night. There has been relatively little shooting by police. The death toll stands at eight.

Negro Radical 'Being Investigated'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. justice department is investigating Stokely Carmichael's activities to determine if he may have contributed to Washington's weekend violence, Attorney-General Ramsey Clark said Monday.

Carmichael, at a news conference Friday 14 hours after the death of Dr. Martin Luther King, said Negroes would "have to get guns" and take to the streets to "retaliate for the (King) execution."

Clark said in a television interview that federal investigators are checking his statements to see if "he may have violated any . . . one of a number of statutes."

'De Gaulle Pushed Quebec Too Hard'

By ROD CURRIE

NEW YORK (CP) — René Lévesque, leader of the Quebec sovereignty movement, said Sunday night that French President de Gaulle, "such an overbearing old guy," had "pushed a little too hard" in his controversial visit to Quebec last summer.

However, he helped French Canada "in a superficial way" in that he drew world attention to Quebec's problems.

"Three advertising agencies on Madison Avenue would have worked for years for the publicity" attracted by de Gaulle's call for an independent Quebec, widely interpreted as interference in Canada's internal affairs.

Expectations

Lévesque, 45, made the remarks in an interview on the weekly David Susskind Show.

Lévesque said concessions to French-speaking Canadians in the last 15 years came too late and now Quebec, then what would have happened I ask you?"

They had a "normal hankering for independence," said Lévesque, a former Quebec Liberal cabinet minister and now leader of Mouvement Souveraineté-Association.

U.S. Control

For years, he said, financial institutions in Quebec were controlled by English-speaking Canadians, and industry was mostly in the hands of U.S. interests. French-speaking Canadians controlled few of the strategic financial and industrial concerns.

Asked by Susskind if a change in this situation could not be brought about within the present Canadian framework, Lévesque said:

"Could be, but I don't think it will. When you have a growth of expectation, you don't want to be a minority."

"We want some new agreement between two peoples."

Garden Notes

Peas Love It Here

By M. V. CHESNUT

Among the many blessings showered upon those of us fortunate enough to live on Vancouver Island, we have been given a climate which is just about made to order for the growing of green peas.

In most other parts of Canada, peas thrive only in the spring and fall, as the plants cannot tolerate the extreme midsummer heat of our hinterlands. It is a common complaint, especially in the Prairie provinces, for the pea vines to pack up and quit after just one single picking.

In our cool summers, though, it is possible, through succession sowings, to keep a continuous supply of succulent green peas flowing from garden to kitchen all through the growing season.

Any half-decent garden soil will grow peas. It doesn't have to be particularly rich and fertile, for the pea vine secures quite a lot of its nourishment from the atmosphere.

In fact, the soil is usually richer in plant food AFTER a pea crop than before, particularly if the roots are allowed to remain in the ground when the plot is cleared after cropping.

Peas must have an unfailing supply of moisture, however, and the best way to ensure this is to keep the soil well stocked with organic material—preferably manure or compost—to act as a sponge for the retention of moisture.

Before sowing peas—or sweet peas—it is a wise precaution to inoculate the seeds with the beneficial bacteria which feed the pea roots by extracting nitrogen from the atmosphere.

This inoculant comes in the form of a black powder, sold in garden shops and centres for 15 cents to 50 cents per packet or tin, and the usual technique is to moisten your seeds, then shake them up in a bag or jar with a spoonful of the inoculant powder so as to coat each seed evenly.

Both the pea vine and its ally, the nitrogen-fixing bacteria, require a sweet soil for proper development, so the portion of the vegetable plot assigned to peas should be given a generous dressing of lime before sowing.

The actual amount required will vary somewhat with the chemical make-up of the soil. In most gardens hereabouts an adequate dressing would be one cupful per square yard if hydrated lime is used, or 1½ cupfuls if the milder and longer-lasting pulverized limestone is applied. Just scatter on the surface and scratch in with the rake.

It is best to sow the dwarf kinds fairly thickly, so the vines will tend to support one another. I usually sow in a shallow, flat-bottomed trench, 1½ inches deep and about a foot wide, spacing the seeds five inches apart each way.

If more than one row is grown, a three-foot alley is left between trenches. In dry weather, the peas can be irrigated easily by flooding the trenches with a trickle from the hose.

Novice gardeners should remember that individual pea vines do not continue to produce pods indefinitely; from two to three weeks is about the average cropping life, from the first picking to the last.

If you are fond of freshly-picked green peas, then, and want to extend the cropping season, the trick is to sow an early-maturing variety, a mid-season and a late pea, so that as one batch of vines quits bearing, another takes over.

Improved Laxton's Progress is a good and reliable early kind, Lincoln or Homesteader for mid-season, and Stratagem is a sweet, well-flavored late pea.

As peas lose vitamins and sugar content very soon after they are picked, they should be eaten as soon as possible after harvesting, and they shouldn't be shelled until just before cooking.

It is a great mistake to cook peas in salted water, as this treatment toughens them. A sprig of mint in the water imparts a delightful flavor.

It is most important to keep the peas picked regularly all through their cropping life, for if a vine is allowed to mature its seeds, its purpose in life is fulfilled and it will pack up and quit, producing no more pods.

ART BUCHWALD Removes Tourists' Fears

Americans a Gentle People

WASHINGTON—Dear Visitor From Abroad.

This is your invitation to visit the USA in 1968, otherwise known as the land of Bonnie and Clyde.

To make it easier for you, we will answer some of the questions that foreign tourists keep asking us.

IS IT DANGEROUS TO VISIT THE UNITED STATES?

Of course not. Americans are a gentle people who abhor violence. What little there is can be seen on television or in the movies—every night. We have cowboy films, cops and robbers pictures and children's cartoons. If that isn't your cup of tea you can tune in on one of our news shows.

We not only show people being killed, but villages being burned, GIs being wounded, enemies being tortured or anything else that suits your fancy. Of course, these shows have no effect on Americans because they know it has nothing to do with them.

WHAT SHOULD I WEAR?

American fashions this year are all modelled after the Bonnie and Clyde look, and everyone wants to dress like a gangster. This trend is tongue in cheek, because everyone knows we don't admire gangsters, even though we all consider Bonnie and Clyde a gas.

WHAT CAN I BUY IN THE UNITED STATES THAT I CAN'T BUY IN MY OWN COUNTRY?

Guns, for one thing. We have no laws about buying guns. You don't even have to go to a store. You can order them by mail from newspapers and magazines.

You can buy shotguns, rifles, hand guns, pistols, revolvers and practically any kind of weapon you want. Of course, we only use guns in the United States for hunting.

That's why the American Congress in its infinite wisdom won't pass any gun control law. They know anyone who would order a gun by mail or buy one in a store would never use it except to shoot game.

WHAT ABOUT VISITING AMERICAN CITIES?

It's perfectly safe to visit any American city in the country, providing you don't go out after dark or during certain parts of the day. The best thing is to ask your hotel clerk at the desk. He'll indicate what streets are safe and where you can visit them. Americans pride themselves on law and order and would never do anything to disturb the peace.

WHEN IS THE BEST TIME TO COME?

Any time is a good time to visit the United States, with the possible exception of the long hot summer which starts in the middle of March and goes through October. At this time people are irritable and not as friendly toward tourists as they might be at Christmas time.

WHERE CAN I SEE THE PRESIDENT?

You can see the White House, but the president, for security reasons, doesn't make many public appearances any more—least none that are announced in advance. No other American officials are free to travel, either. As a tourist, this shouldn't bother you. After all, you have a foreign passport.

I hope this answers most of your questions. So forget your cares and see Americans at work and play. Watch a truly civilized democracy in action and meet a people who love each other and live in harmony.

See for yourself why the United States is the leader of the free world and an example to everyone of what you can do when you have understanding, wealth and power.

Thinks Aloud

The trouble with the conservative is that he cares for people, but only for his kind of people, and is indifferent to the general needs of mankind; the trouble with the liberal is that he cares keenly for the needs of mankind, but isn't too concerned with the actual people around him. The conservative can't see the forest for the trees, and the liberal can't see the trees for the forest.

For the modern youth, home is where you hang your posters.

The worst start a child can have in religious education is learning to pray to "Our Father Who art in Heaven"—for if that is where we place Him, we shall fail to find Him anywhere else.

The fact that less than 10 per cent of recorded history has been entirely without war makes some people feel that war is "inevitable"—but the fact that less than one per cent of the human race is entirely without colds doesn't make us give up our relentless search for a cure for the common cold.

Genealogies don't go far enough, if they did, they would bump up against the truth of Helen Keller's remark: "There is no king who has not had a slave among his ancestors, and no slave who knows what is more than enough."

The North American woman's obsessive fear of growing older generates in her a desperate race against time that produces more fatigue than the natural aging process itself.

The hardest part of executive decision is refusing to make decisions that others should make—for the same qualities that propel a man into executive position also impel him to carry the ball more than he should.

Most of us learn too late for the reason so succinctly given by William Blake: "You never know what is enough until you have pulled toward one of these polarities or the other."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Lancasters to Fly Solo

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — The Burt Lancasters are planning to convert the 18-month separation into a divorce. Burt will be back from Yugoslavia, where he is starring in Castle Keep in July, and it is expected the papers will be ready for him to sign then if not before. Burt and Norma married when he returned to civilian life after the Second World War. They met while she was with an entertainment group in Italy during the war. They have five children. Next film for Lancaster, The Gypsy Moth, for John Frankenheimer.

And they said it wouldn't last: Bill Daniels, Garbo's favorite cameraman, 50 years behind the movie cameras with The Impossible Years for MGM where it all began... Joanna Pettet and Alex Cord will try to find a film to make together as reel as well as real husband and wife... Versatile Maggie Smith plays five roles in Hot Millions, with Peter Ustinov. After The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie—I believe they should chop off the first three words for the marques—Maggie stars in Oh, What a Lovely War! After that she thinks she'll have another baby.

Ewa Aulin, who plays the title role in Candy, named Brigitte Bardot as the most beautiful woman in the world, which will give you an idea of what beauty means today. It means irregular features, dyed blonde hair and a thick pot.

Don't be surprised if Lee Marvin, who rode to an Oscar on a broken-down horse, turns up in After the Fall, which Abby Mann is now adapting for the screen... Tony Perkins is pricing homes in Hollywood. Tony, now touring in The Star Spangled Girl, and he's very good, wants to settle back in Hollywood, where he made his first film hit with Gary Cooper in Friendly Persuasion.

Talk is that Sean Connery will be co-starred with Richard Harris in The Molly McGuire, which Marty Ritt will film in the coal regions of Pennsylvania. Sean is still busy with Bardot in his western, Shalako.

Lee Remick was a dream walking when she walked into Gallaghers in a Lord Fountleroy micro-mini. Everyone stopped eating steak to stare. Reminded me of when Elizabeth Taylor was about 15 and walked into the MGM commissary. Liz was wearing a tight bright red sweater and no wonder Orson Welles choked on his pork chops!

Julie Harris, on the set of The Split, told me she was not sure what she would be doing next. "I'd like to stay in Hollywood, but I have a feeling that films are for the beautiful." And here I always was sure that Miss Harris, with her fine, delicate features was a very pretty lady. I chided her on throwing Tarzan in a recent episode. She played a missionary and was against retaliation even with a knife at her throat. "Ghastly," she replied, said, "You have to know the soul of your enemy. Then you can defeat him with passive resistance."

with Bruce Lowther

PEOPLE AND PROGRAMS: A major "theft" in Vancouver radio—Former CBC radio and TV personality Bill Bellman has taken broadcast rights for the B.C. Lions games for the next three years away from his many rivals and over to his CHGM. Unfortunately, it's not heard in Victoria, too well. Brad Keene will do the voicing.

The CBC has awarded the contract for a new radio transmitter for CBU (690) on Lulu Island. Sometime before 1969, power will rise to 50,000 watts from the present 10,000... The U.S. Congress is expected to pass a bill this year empowering the U.S. health department to regulate radio emissions from color TV sets and other electronics equipment... No information has come this way on telecasting of the Martin Luther King funeral today.

BUREAU OF USE-LESS INFORMATION: Saturday's succulent answer—My bowl of fruit included Broadway, Runyon's Big Apple, Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach, Phil Morris, Top Banana; Chekhov, The Cherry Orchard; Grapes of Wrath, the Steinbeck story, and Harry Lime. The Third Man. And orange rhymes with month.

To day's question—Only two parts to this one, but the second is as tough as they come. TV's Millions are for years gave away $1,000 a week in a 25% (less reruns). Who played the man who distributed the largesse? And what was the name of the millionaire whose face we never saw? Answers Wednesday.

*Car No. 1 ran out of fuel while car No. 2 rolled on a silly millimeter longer."

Tuesday Highlights

*C-7:00 or 7:30 a.m.—The Martin Luther King funeral—Definitely on, possibly on 2, 4, 6, 7, 12.

*C-5:30 p.m.—NHL playoffs, Montreal at Boston—2, 6.

C-7:30—Daktari takes a week off for an hour of songs by Paul Anka. Tigers out, pussycat in—7.

C-7:30—Jerry Lewis is aided in mayhem by Nanette Fabray and Mel Torme. I like 'em all—8.

C-8:00—The same Jerry Lewis show—5.

*8:30—Reach for the Top, Courtenay vs. Oak Bay—2.

*8:30—Laudes Evangelii, an Eastern ballet by Leonid Massine. The Ballet Europeans and many others—9.

12:45—Chicago Syndicate (1955 crime-doesn't-pay), Dennis O'Keefe, Abbe Lane. No—6, 8.

2:00 p.m.—Design for Living (1933 Noel Coward musical piece), Fredric March, Gary Cooper—13.

4:00—Love Thy Neighbor (1940 nostalgic), Fred Allen, Jack Benny, Mary Martin. The good die young—13.

5:30—Miraculous Journey (1948 plane-down), Rory Calhoun—12.

C-6:00—Istanbul (sad 1956 Errol Flynn past his peak), Nat Cole, Leif Erickson—7.

8:00—Hatter's Castle (fair 1948 suspense), Robert Newton, James Mason, Deborah Kerr, Elizabeth Taylor—13.

C-9:00—Bedtime Story (truly terrible 1964 comedy), Brando, David Niven, Shirley Jones—5.

11:00—Story of Mankind (1957 outright flop), Ronald Colman, Hedy Lamarr, the Marx Bros. Very bad—12.

11:00—Kiss the Boys Goodbye (1941 musical), Mary Martin, Don Ameche, Oscar Levant—13.

*11:45—Seventh Seal (1952 Ingmar Bergman drama)—2.

1:05 a.m.—The Texan Meets Calamity Jane (1950 junk) 5.

Tuesday Radio

NOTE: If the NHL is on radio tonight, no information to that effect has come this way. Sorry.

7:00—The Man Born to Be King is a five-part series of Easter dramas written for the BBC in 1942 by mystery author Dorothy Sayers. At this time through Friday, then at 11:00 p.m. Sunday—CBU (690).

9:00—Portrait of an Age is subtitled England in the Time of Napoleon. No other information—CBU.

9:00—Project 68 completes its report on the New Communists—CVI (900).

*10:10—A news special on the Negro crisis—CBU.

★—Recommended; C—Color.

Champion Of Blind Dies, 75

COLLINS BAY, Ont. (CP) — Lt.-Col. Edwin Abert Baker, one of the chief organizers of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, died at his home here yesterday. He was 75.

Blinded by a sniper's bullet on a Belgian battlefield during the First World War, Col. Baker helped found the CNIB and directed its operations for half a century.

UNTIL RETIREMENT

He was the first president of the World Council for the Welfare of the Blind, a post he held continuously from 1951 to 1964 when he retired.

Col. Baker was recently awarded the medal of service as a companion of the newly-formed Order of Canada.

He learned to read braille, type and play the piano while recuperating in a London hospital in 1915. Back in Canada, he joined a small group of Toronto businessmen interested in establishing an institute to help the war-blinded.

HELEN KELLER

In 1918 the CNIB was born in rented quarters in the city. But Col. Baker's reputation was not confined to Canada. In 1951, he was awarded the Migel Medal by Helen Keller from the American Foundation for the Blind for his outstanding service.

The following year, the American Association of Workers for the Blind presented him with the Showell Memorial Award in Louisville, Ky.

CROIX DE GUERRE

Col. Baker was the first vice-president of the CNIB from 1918 to 1922 and its managing director from 1920 to 1962.

He was awarded the Military Cross and the Croix de Guerre in the First World War and was made an officer of the Order of the British Empire by King George V in 1935.

In 1954, he became the first Canadian to receive the Leslie Dana Award presented by the St. Louis, Mo., Society for the Blind, the National Association for the Prevention of Blindness and the Association for Research in Ophthalmology.

Carpenters

Officers Say 'Settle'

Hopes for an amicable settlement between carpenters and contractors appear bright, a carpenters' union spokesman said Monday.

John Schibli, secretary of the Vancouver Island Building and Trades Council and a representative of Local 1388 of the carpenters' union, said nothing definite would be known, however, until about April 16, when the results of secret ballots taken on a province-wide basis were known.

Mr. Schibli said a press conference would be called in Vancouver to announce the results of the vote. The Victoria local held its meeting Monday, and the other 29 locals will vote this week.

It was understood that negotiations for both the B.C. Provincial Council of Carpenters and the Amalgamated Construction to B.C. would recommend a settlement to their respective groups.

Fish Unions Plan Merger

VANCOUVER (CP) — Meeting is scheduled Wednesday to discuss possible merger of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union and the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers.

Jack Nichol, business agent for the Fishermen's Union, said exploratory talks already have been held. His union has about 7,500 members and the packing house workers about 27,000.

OTTAWA—The Trudeau-Pearson transfer of power is expected to take place April 22, the fifth anniversary of Lester Pearson's taking office as prime minister.

Pearson:

Recognition Of China Overdue

TORONTO (CP)—Canada should have recognized Communist China from the beginning and was "close to doing it" when the Korean conflict broke out, Prime Minister Pearson says in an interview with the United Church Observer.

More recently, the government also was moving toward a change in policy on recognition of China "when the situation deteriorated in China itself," postponing "any final action."

IF DIVIDED

Pearson, in an interview published in the April 15 issue of the Observer, says recognition did not come in the years after the Korean War because of strongly-divided public opinion in Canada and a desire to avoid impairing relations with the United States.

"When you have a division of public opinion inside your own country and there is no great compelling urgency, morally or politically, to take action, then your relations with your neighbor, with the United States, become important in respect of that issue."

Mountain Crash Kills 35

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Federal police said a DC-3 passenger plane crashed and burned Monday in a mountainous region of southern Chile, killing all 35 aboard.

Ladeco Airlines listed 32 passengers and a crew of three. Police quoted a farmer, Noe Flores, as saying he saw the Ladeco Airlines plane dive, then heard an explosion and saw flames.

The passenger list indicated all aboard were Chileans. The plane was bound from Puerto Montt to Coihaique, 1,100 miles south of Santiago.

LONDON (AP)—A British jet airliner carrying 126 persons caught fire on takeoff Monday, began to fall apart in the air, then returned to a flaming crash-landing at London Airport. Four passengers and a stewardess were killed.

Officials said many of the 121 who survived jumped free in the split second after the plane touched ground following its four-minute horror flight. Twenty-two persons were injured.

An engine fell from the

Moments after takeoff, the commander of the British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 reported fire in one of the plane's left engines. He circled for an emergency landing and the plane burst into flames, sending up a cloud of black smoke.

escape chutes as fire trucks and ambulances roared up.

BOAC said an engine of the same plane caught fire on takeoff from Honolulu on a flight to Tokyo late last year. The plane was stopped before it left the ground and there were no casualties.

Sir Giles Gullette, BOAC chairman, said the company would conduct its own investigation in addition to the government inquiry.

"I shall be trying to find out why the fire extinguishers were not working, why the fire warning system was not working and why the engine caught fire," he said.

Hanoi Accepts LBJ Bid

Now It's Where, When

HARD DEALING NEXT

From AP, UPI

North Vietnam formally accepted Monday the bid of President Johnson for talks on Vietnam, and an atmosphere of hard bargaining appeared immediately to be forming.

Washington and Hanoi favored different centres as suitable sites for initial contacts and possibly later political negotiation. Johnson summoned his top advisers to a Cape David conference today to determine the next U.S. move.

U.S. authorities who took part in the 14-country Geneva conference in 1962, which guaranteed the neutrality of Laos, said that its communication facilities and accommodations make it the logical choice for any full-scale Vietnam talks. (See also Page 3.)

Hanoi Radio, quoting an interview between Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and CBS correspondent Charles Collingwood, said the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh should be the site.

NOT EQUIPPED

U.S. officials said Phnom Penh could not handle the communications requirements that could arise if there were more than 200 correspondents and delegations of 20 to 25 from each of 14 countries attending a full-scale conference.

Johnson was unsmiling and terse when he called reporters into the White House and told them he had received a message from Hanoi, dated April 3, responding to his invitation.

"We have taken steps to notify our allies," the president said.

TIME, PLACE

"We shall be trying to work out promptly the time and the place for the talks. . . ."

He said he will be flying to Camp David, the presidential retreat in Maryland where President Franklin D. Roosevelt held Second World War talks.

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, flying in from Saigon this morning, will be joined by State Secretary Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford for the Camp David talks, he said.

Repeated claims by Hanoi that U.S. planes recently bombed a North Vietnamese province far to the north of the 20th parallel brought a denial from Clifford.

"There have been no United States attacks north of the 20th parallel since the president's speech eight days ago," Clifford said.

SAINON ANXIOUS

Johnson announced March 31 he was limiting the scope of U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnam, and the 20th parallel was the line drawn under these restrictions.

Leaders of the South Vietnamese government have displayed anxiety over the forthcoming Washington-Hanoi meeting without portfolio Pat Jordan to settle the six-month southern interior woods strike. She sent telegrams to the IWA and operators as government mediation continued in Vancouver. (See also Page 20.)

Wide Area Jolted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two sharp earthquakes, followed by a dozen aftershocks, swayed tall buildings and brought scattered reports of damage Monday throughout the southwestern U.S.

"It was a nice garden variety" of quake, said a Pasadena seismologist.

The shocks were felt from Los Angeles to southern Nevada and from Mexico to northern California.

Bill 33 Use Proposed

Cumberland Demands More Work on District Roads

Bennett

CUMBERLAND—All roads lead to the engineer's office, but there are a lot of bumps on the way.

The highway department engineer in this district has been asked to take action on a number of roads.

Cumberland chamber of commerce made a list of roads that need urgent work to keep traffic flowing smoothly.

HEAVY RAIN

The chamber wants the Royston-Cumberland Road improved.

The district engineer was asked to have the Bevan Road graded to an acceptable standard. It was reported that nothing has been done since heavy rains damaged the gravel road.

Randy Mulcaster, the engineer, will also be asked about updating the Royston-Cumberland road to Comox Lake, and the Courtenay-Cumberland road, to acceptable standards.

A REQUEST

A request will be made for installation of an overhead sign at Royston, indicating Cumberland land.

SECOND LETTER

Copies of the correspondence to the engineer will be sent to Minister of Highways W. A. C. Bennett and MLA Dan Campbell.

MEMBERS AGREED

Members agreed that if an answer is not received in two weeks, a second letter will be forwarded.

Tentative plans have been made to hold a sportsman's dinner in May, at which athletes like Terry Tobacco, who have made significant contributions in the sporting field, will be special guests.

SIGN PAINTING

The large sign on the highway at Royston is to be re-painted. Village council is expected to have Cumberland brochures placed on the ferries.

Some changes are planned before the new printing of the brochures.

It was also agreed that brochures would be issued to any groups meeting in convention in the Comox Valley.

Village council is expected to

Chamber of Commerce week

April 21 to 27 at which time a membership campaign will be initiated.

The local chamber also agreed to join the Canadian Chamber and will investigate the merits of requesting a development clinic.

The large sign on the highway at Royston is to be re-painted. Village council is expected to Parksville Has WaterWell, We're Fine!

PARKSVILLE — Good water with riches greater than gold, in an assured supply of good spring water, as the result of a recent well-drilling project completed by Robertson's Pumps and Service of Coombs.

The village has just participated in an increase to the water potential.

And village council has accepted a levy of $6.34 for the regional hospital district for this year.

Council's approval was held up until the hospital board could give an explanation as to why the tax was increased considerably.

Parksville is probably blessed with riches greater than gold, in an assured supply of good spring water, as the result of a recent well-drilling project completed by Robertson's Pumps and Service of Coombs.

Two new wells which have been drilled and capped in the area of the municipal waterworks are turning out 125,000 gallons a day in a free flow, and when this is added to the original supply from springs, it will give a good year-round supply of water for the growth of the village.

It is estimated that the supply of spring water is now adequate to serve 10,000.

Next Step

The two additional wells were drilled and capped at a cost of $1,500 including the road into the site.

The next anticipated step in the upgrading of the waterworks is an increase of storage facilities. Present storage tanks hold 300,000 gallons of water.

It is expected that the fresh supply of spring water will give Parksville top rating for a pure water supply.

Test Report

In the annual report of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit, it was stated that out of 47 tests made in 1967 30 were satisfactory and 17 were unsatisfactory.

The unsatisfactory tests were made in the summer time when the spring water supply was being augmented by water from Englishman River.

The river water had to be purified by a chlorinator.

Pure Water

The original water supply and the two new wells are pure artesian water.

The municipal waterworks is situated west of the village and accessible for maintenance and supervision.

Defeated

Port Alberni Ald. George McKnight, who backed an action slate against incumbents on the executive of the IWA local, has been defeated. He was second vice-president. All other action candidates lost. Walter Allen, president for 18 years, beat newcomer Dave Burton. Mr. McKnight himself was beaten by Stan Parker, camp committee chairman of Cameron Division, MacMillan Bloedel.

Many Move House

Giant house-move took place at Duncan where Bill Brown and his crew moved large eight-room house which his late father, Oscar, built about 50 years ago. It was tallest house Mr. Brown has ever transferred in district and telephone, hydro and cable television workers were on hand to lift wires for two-story house. Load, weighing 28 tons, was taken slowly from corner of St. Julian and Coronation Avenue to site on Beavercreek Street. House belongs to Cowichan Valley Holdings. (Klaus Muenster)

Council is having consultation with a Vancouver architect, S. M. Cameron, in regard to plans for a proposed municipal office complex which would combine a fire hall and other services under one roof.

A water frontage tax has been given final approval setting a rate of 18 cents per foot front-

Washroom Brinkmanship Solves Sex Mystery

FULFORD—Is it a boy or a girl when a girl, during one of the hymns, asked Mrs. Dawson the way to the bathroom.

"Follow me," said Mrs. Dawson and she asked the woman user at the door to show the girl the way.

Later when Mrs. Dawson met the usher, the latter kissed her: "You poor fool, that was a boy."

Another speaker was Mrs. H.

G. Scott of Pender Island who gave some hints about the treatment of ticks.

"You can't pinch, prick, or break a tick," she warned.

"Put a drop of alcohol on and after a few minutes get hold of him and twist him gently—never mind if you are angry, you don't want to leave his head in just twist him anticlockwise."

Mrs. Scott suggested a careful inspection every night as the tick season had arrived.

First One

Over 100 members arrived on three ferries from Vesuvius-Crofton, Long Harbor-Tsawwassen and Swartz Bay-Fulford. The conference was the first of its kind to be held on Salt Spring Island.

The conference theme was based on the Mary Stewart collect, a type of prayer which urges "we should not forget to be kind."

A talk on the theme was given by Mrs. P. H. Grimmer of Pender Island. Greetings were given by the local institute president, Mrs. M. Gyves and Mrs. L. Ogden of Strawberry Vale replied.

Guest List

Visitors and guests included past provincial president, Mrs. R. C. Palmer, Kelowna; provincial president, Mrs. E. G. Woodward, Brentwood; provincial director, Mrs. H. C. Hendrick, Vancouver, and president North Vancouver Island district board, Mrs. Shepherd.

District officers elected were, president, Miss V. Sallis, Victoria; vice-president, Mrs. A. Austin; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. A. Allan; and director, Mrs. A. J. Ingram and Mrs. Bea Morrison.

Island Quilt

Retiring president was Mrs. Feinstein who was chairman of the first session. Mrs. E. G. Tatton, retiring vice-president led the second session.

Displays of handwork included a quilt from Pender Island and other exhibits ranging from a display on poison weeds and flowers to the Card Lane safety awards by Sooke W.I.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Willie George of Kokslah, 13 grandchildren, 32 great-grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. Jones Edwards, Chemainus Bay and Mrs. Mary Johnnie, Westholme, and a brother Victor Seymour of Chemainus.

Requiem mass will be celebrated Wednesday at St. Ann's Tsouhallem Road, followed by burial at the church cemetery.

Indian Co-Op Formed

Louie

DUNCAN — Cowichan Indians have formed a co-operative farm association.

"I believe we are the first Indian group that has taken the step towards independence in co-operative action," said Renne Louise, co-op vice-chairman.

After registering the association in Victoria, Mr. Louise said: "We formed this co-op to qualify for the same privileges as other legal organizations and to assume the same responsibilities."

"We have made plans for the next five years. We shall produce silage and berries for sale and we shall have a community pasture for beef cattle."

Director Dan Thomas said, "I am very glad to see the boys go through with this."

"The reserve has been sort of depressed and I am very anxious to get involved and develop the community on a co-operative basis.

"I think a group of people getting together can really accomplish something."

Helping the Indians with the formation of the co-op was expert John Trew who came here last December from Saskatchewan.

He said, "There is a potential for all types of co-op among Vancouver Island Indians. Many of the bands I visited on the Island indicated the need and desire to form co-operatives."

"It was the first time that I have worked with Indian people. I benefited greatly from it and I hope I will come back again."

Other officials of the co-op are Chief Dennis Alphonse, chairman; Norman Joe, secretary-treasurer, and James Modeste and Alphonse Billy, directors.

NANAIMO—When Dr. Martin left for the Liberal leadership convention, he was a strong Paul Martin supporter, but after he had mixed with the other delegates he wasn't so sure.

"I was originally in favor of that period, with Paul Martin as prime minister, for at least four years," he said.

When he arrived at the convention, he noted that "the atmosphere indicated the feeling across Canada was completely different from what I first assumed."

Dr. Zorkin, one of the Liberal delegates for Nanaimo-Cowichan and the Islands, said he saw a need early on for a change of thinking.

He described the election of Pierre Elliott Trudeau as not only a victory for the man, but an outcry for a revolution in thinking.

He said that of the 2,000 delegates, 60 per cent were under 40 years old.

"Trudeau was carried with a tremendous enthusiasm by English-speaking delegates," he said.

He said the 30 per cent French-speaking representatives and the 25 per cent European originated delegates were the most conservatively inclined.

"When it was evident that the majority wanted a change, this swayed the other delegates."

"His (Trudeau's) drastic views shocked everybody," said Dr. Zorkin.

He added that the spirit of the convention brought about startling changes in almost all delegations and candidates.

"Each candidate was so progressive that if their speeches were made five years ago, they would have been thought blasphemous."

Of Mr. Trudeau, he said, "He is an intellectual with his feet on the ground, with his concern for the people at large his first concern."

"He is basically interested in human values . . . the individual human being is the state."

"He will modernize the government, from parliament to the Senate . . . each province will be represented in the Senate, and will be equal despite their political representation or size."

"Mr. Trudeau will be giving Canada back to the people. We will participate in future legislation. We will experience a quiet revolution in overhauling our political machinery."

Parking Fines Blasted

DUNCAN—A letter from local businessman Norman Gourlay complaining about high parking fines has prompted city council to review its parking law.

Mr. Gourlay said: "I would again ask that council considers the policy of a 25-cent fine if the person that receives a summons pays the fine within an hour from the time of issuance of the ticket.

"I think this policy is followed in New Westminster and I can think of no better way to encourage people to shop in Duncan," said Mr. Gourlay.

The parking fines are $2 now.

"I always opposed the $2 fine, the time has long passed to review the parking bylaw," commented Ald. Tom Kilpatrick.

He added parking fines should be $1 or less.

"It would be better public relations to increase the parking fees. People will not be against this but they will oppose a $2 fine."

Ald. Rois Harder did not agree with the suggested 25-cent fine but he said the fine should be lowered.

"Certainly there should be fines otherwise people will abuse the privilege."

Ald. Jim Saunders agreed with the two speakers but he objected to the 25-cent proposal.

Ald. John Getz also favored lowering the fine to $1.

Ald. Dick Benzies said, "I like to go along with Ald. Kilpatrick but for a second offence the same day a $10 fine should be imposed."

He said people tying up parking spaces all day cost the community more than $10.

A recommendation from Duncan recreation commission to initiate a bylaw for an $800,000 recreation development was adopted in principle.

The recommendation follows a joint meeting between Duncan and North Cowichan commissions. The development would give Duncan and North Cowichan a covered swimming pool, community centre and an additional piece of land adjacent to Pioneer Park.

North Cowichan council made a similar decision last week.

No Snap Election Cabinet List Latest Game

By RON COLLISTER, Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The Trudeau-Pearson transfer of power is expected to take place April 22, the fifth anniversary of Lester Pearson's taking office as prime minister. *

Pearson:

Recognition Of China Overdue

TORONTO (CP)—Canada should have recognized Communist China from the beginning and was "close to doing it" when the Korean conflict broke out, Prime Minister Pearson says in an interview with the United Church Observer.

More recently, the government also was moving toward a change in policy on recognition of China "when the situation deteriorated in China itself," postponing "any final action."

IF DIVIDED

Pearson, in an interview published in the April 15 issue of the Observer, says recognition did not come in the years after the Korean War because of strongly-divided public opinion in Canada and a desire to avoid impairing relations with the United States.

"When you have a division of public opinion inside your own country and there is no great compelling urgency, morally or politically, to take action, then your relations with your neighbor, with the United States, become important in respect of that issue."

Mountain Crash Kills 35

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Federal police said a DC-3 passenger plane crashed and burned Monday in a mountainous region of southern Chile, killing all 35 aboard.

Ladeo Airlines listed 32 passengers and a crew of three. Police quoted a farmer, Noe Flores, as saying he saw the Ladeo Airlines plane dive, then heard an explosion and saw flames.

The passenger list indicated all aboard were Chileans. The plane was bound from Puerto Montt to Coquihue, 1,100 miles south of Santiago.

LONDON (AP)—A British jet airliner carrying 128 persons caught fire on takeoff Monday, began to fall apart in the air, then returned to a flaming crash-landing at London Airport. Four passengers and a stewardess were killed. Officials said many of the 121 who survived jumped free in the split second after the plane touched ground following its four-minute horror flight. Twenty-two persons were injured.

An engine fell from the Australia-bound plane before the crash landing. Seconds earlier the aircraft had flown over a busy shopping centre.

Moments after takeoff, the commander of the British Overseas Airways Corp. Boeing 707 reported fire in one of the plane's left engines. He circled for an emergency landing and the plane burst into flames, sending up a cloud of black smoke.

Survivors scrambled out emergency doors or slid down escape chutes as fire trucks and ambulances roared up.

BOAC said an engine of the same plane caught fire on takeoff from Honolulu on a flight to Tokyo late last year. The plane was stopped before it left the ground and there were no casualties.

Sir Giles Githrie, BOAC chairman, said the company would conduct its own investigation in addition to the government inquiry.

"I shall be trying to find out why the fire extinguishers were not working, why the fire warning system was not working and why the engine caught fire," he said.

The plane — Speedbird Flight BA-712 — was bound for Sydney, Australia, with scheduled stops at Zurich, Tel Aviv, Tehran, New Delhi, Singapore and Perth, Western Australia.

The big aircraft was airborne only four minutes from takeoff until it came to a

King Funeral Today

Blacks for Strike As Riots Rage On

From AP, LAT, UPI

Black militants have called for an all-day general strike throughout the U.S. to honor the assassinated Dr. Martin Luther King, the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating Committee announced. Monday.

John Turner will become justice minister, filling Trudeau's old post.

Joe Greene will become minister of consumer affairs, replacing Turner.

And H. A. (Bud) Olson will become minister of agriculture, succeeding Greene.

Miss LaMarsh's portfolio, and Mr. Winters' portfolio may remain vacant for a while, until after a general election, which comes early in the summer.

Trudeau arrived at Sussex in a happy relaxed mood:

• YOUR DOMAIN

"It's your domain," said Pearson. "Cheap at the price," Trudeau replied.

He then asked if there was room in the garage for a small car.

And, looking over the French embassy, the next house to the official residence: "Do you think we could expropriate it?"

In a Sunday news conference Trudeau made these points:

• Canadian foreign policy must be completely reassessed.

Death Suspect In Mexico?

From UPI, AP

Police in Mexico said Monday night they have distributed a sketch of a suspect in the Martin Luther King assassination throughout Mexico, including border points, at the request of the FBI.

A Mexican police spokesman said the drawing was made by a police artist from descriptions provided by U.S. authorities.

He would not indicate if there was some evidence the assassin may have fled to Mexico.

"There is an investigation going on. That is all we can say," he said.

In Washington, Attorney-General Ramsey Clark said federal investigators are on the trail of "one man on the run" and are hoping for an early arrest.

"We have a name we are working on. Whether it proves to be the right name remains to be seen."

He added there is no evidence yet that more than one man was involved in the killing.

NEW VIOLENCE

In Congress, Sen. Edward Brooke (R-Mass.) introduced a resolution that would designate Jan. 15, Dr. King's birthday, as Vice-President Humphrey, at least 60 members of Congress, Sens. Robert and Edward Kennedy, and, representing the British government, Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins.

Others can join, too, if they want."

In Atlanta, U.S. national and other dignitaries this morning will join an estimated 50,000 mourners at King's funeral. (See also Pages 19, 23.)

Following a simple mule-driven wagon as it bears the body of the civil rights leader through streets of his native city will be Vice-President Humphrey, at least 60 members of Congress, Sens. Robert and Edward Kennedy, and, representing the British government, Chancellor of the Exchequer Roy Jenkins.

Johnson was unsmiling and terse when he called reporters into the White House and told them he had received a message from Hanoi, dated April 3, responding to his invitation.

"We have taken steps to notify our allies," the president said.

TIME, PLACE

"We shall be trying to work out promptly the time and the place for the talks..."

Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, flying in from Saigon this morning, will be joined by State Secretary Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford for the Camp David talks, he said.

Repeated claims by Hanoi that U.S. planes recently bombed a North Vietnamese province far to the north of the 20th parallel brought a denial from Clifford.

SAIGON ANXIOUS

Johnson announced March 31 he was limiting the scope of U.S. bombing attacks on North Vietnam, and the 20th parallel was the line drawn under these restrictions.

Leaders of the South Vietnamese government have displayed anxiety over the forthcoming Washington-Hanoi meeting since it was not represented, and Bunker is expected to report on this aspect.

Johnson did not give the text of the message from Hanoi. Officials said it was not an oral message but a formal written reply.

Father George Clements of Chicago, a Roman Catholic priest, said he will petition the pope about the possible canonization of King, a Baptist minister.

Papal Push Seen As Sequel

From VATICAN CITY (AP)—Vatican sources said Monday the assassination of Martin Luther King may hasten publication of a papal document against racism.

Pope Paul assured King after a 1964 audience he would issue a document deplored discrimination in all its forms, but has not done so yet.

Father George Clements of Chicago, a Roman Catholic priest, said he will petition the pope about the possible canonization of King, a Baptist minister.

Wide Area Jolted

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two sharp earthquakes, followed by a dozen aftershocks, swayed tall buildings and brought scattered reports of damage Monday throughout the southwestern U.S.

"It was a nice garden variety," said a Pasadena seismologist.

The shocks were felt from Los Angeles to southern Nevada and from Mexico to northern California.

Bill 33 Use Proposed

First use of the binding arbitration section of the controversial labor Bill 33 was urged Monday by B.C. cabinet minister without portfolio Pat Jordan to settle the six-month southern Interior woods strike. She sent telegrams to the IWA and operators as government mediation continued in Vancouver. (See also Page 20.)

Firemen on job in front of charred, smoking wreck

'Zoning
Not Club'

"Zoning is for the protection of the individual not to be used as a club to force the will of the municipality upon the public," G. V. Laurenson, 507 Head, told Esquimalt council Monday.

He was asking council to clean up a lot beside his home, and spoke after Ald. A. B. Young told him he had to expect noise and unsightliness because the municipally-owned lot is zoned industrially.

Mr. Laurenson said his family suffers from the noise, and the matter wound up with council referring the case to its public works committee for debate and on-site inspection.

TodayVictorians
Pray For King

A public memorial service for the late Dr. Martin Luther King will be held at 1 p.m. today in Metropolitan United Church under the sponsorship of the Greater Victoria Council of Churches.

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes, Mayor Hugh Stephen, mayors of surrounding municipalities and other dignitaries will attend. Members of all-city choirs have been invited to form an inter-church choir for the occasion.

Rev. R. J. D. Morris of First United Church will give the eulogy. A collection will go to the Martin Luther King Fund and those unable to attend may make a donation to the fund at St. John's Anglican Church, 1611 Quadra.

Hospital Report
Delayed

The Agnew, Peckham report on Greater Victoria's long-term hospital needs will be available May 1, two weeks later than originally planned.

Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich announced Monday Dr. Harvey Agnew, one of the report's authors, could not be in Victoria for the proposed April 17 release.

The report is expected to detail about $50,000,000 worth of new hospital construction needed in the capital region district.

St. Joseph's Economy DriveDoctors' Help Asked
In Reducing Expenses*By JOHN MATTERS

St. Joseph's Hospital has asked the doctors who practice there to join its staff in a general economy and efficiency drive.

"We just cannot go on the way it is," said Dr. Emert Van Tilburg, the hospital's executive director. "We must go a little slower."

A letter to doctors asking them to cut back on the paperwork they require of nurses is the latest in a series of belt-tightening moves that started about a year ago.

The objective has been to eliminate every form, step, telephone call or memorandum that does not have a direct and crucial bearing on the standard of patient care.

Dr. Van Tilburg said St. Joseph's, which had a heavy operating deficit in 1966, intends to analyze the service it gives in terms of needs instead of demands.

The 1967 financial statements have not yet been released.

Because of hospital bed shortages here, it was caring for patients who needed much more intensive levels of care than even two or three years ago.

He said that while his letter was personal correspondence to each of the 245 doctors who practise at St. Joseph's, and he was disappointed it reached the press, "we are just telling the public what we are doing."

In his letter, Dr. Van Tilburg said:

"The past conception of offering nothing but the best for the patient is no longer economically feasible. We may well have to settle for something less than maximum care under the present circumstances, although always insisting on safe care for the patients."

He then went on to ask each doctor to handle several paper-work procedures individually to save the nurses' shoe leather and telephone calls.

The plea came at a time when St. Joseph's and every other public hospital in British Columbia is worrying about costs in 1968.

The main factor is salaries, which are now being negotiated with lay personnel and registered nurses. The nurses are asking for a 50 per cent increase. It also comes a few weeks before Victoria will be told that they should spend between $30,000,000 and $50,000,000 on new hospital facilities.

That is expected to be the message of the Agnew Peckham study, to be unveiled May 1.

Mayor We Are Together

Mayor Hugh Stephen Monday welcomed Greater Victoria municipal leader into the charmed circle.

No longer is it Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich, Reeve Ray Bryant of Esquimalt and Reeve Fred Hawes of Oak Bay.

As the result of Royal assent Saturday to an amendment to the B.C. Municipal Act, the title "mayor" supplants "reeve" and in nomenclature, at least, all the leaders are on an equal basis.

The change in title will also apply to Reeve R. G. Lee of Central Saanich and Reeve J. B. Cumming of Central Saanich.

Sidney's Mayor Arthur Freeman already had the title.

The amendment also changes the title "councillor" to "alderman" to make civic titles uniform throughout the province in cities, towns, villages and district municipalities.

Esquimalt Accusers UnspecifiedAlderman Denies Charge
Of Apartment 'Interest'

By NANCY BROWN

In a surprise development at an Esquimalt council public hearing Monday, Ald. Roy Elphick said he has been accused of having a financial interest in a proposed Esquimalt apartment, and invited unspecified accusers to prove it.

Ald. Elphick, chairman of planning and zoning for the municipality, said, "I have been accused of having a financial interest in this."

"There is provision in the Municipal Act for pursuing this.

INVITED TO PROVE

"I invite those who made such allegations to prove that I, or any member of council or staff, is involved."

Ald. Elphick's remarks came after Mayor Ray Bryant decided the public should have a hearing during first reading of a bylaw to give multiple dwelling zoning to an area bounded by Craigflower, Phoenix, Colville and Fleming.

The bylaw was referred to committee after a public hearing three weeks ago, because of lack of public information on a proposed apartment block.

Ald. Elphick was not mentioned during the hearing three weeks ago, nor on Monday, and he did not name any accusers.

Ald. Elphick said that since the complaints, he had conducted an intensive inquiry, and members of the staff had been "interrogated." He was satisfied that they had not withheld information.

INSUFFICIENT AREA

Alex Joannise, 878 Colville, said the complaints weren't about the staff, but about the fact that there was no information.

John Voss, 878 Phoenix, said his property value would drop, because the proposed apartment would leave houses on Phoenix with insufficient area for further apartment development.

An increase in property values would only apply for a multiple dwelling zone, if property could be sold for apartment use.

In his case a developer would have to acquire too many houses and lots to make an apartment economically feasible, unless the houses were low-priced.

LEAVE AREA

Both he, and Mr. Joannise said they were afraid they would have to sell their houses for what they could get, and move out of the area.

John Keizer, 319 Island Highway, said the development would bring an annual tax revenue of up to $20,000 to Esquimalt, in what is at present considered to be a depressed area.

He questioned if present property owners, some of whom have large families, pay enough taxes

Elphick

Keizer's remarks applied to him.

"It is very easy for people who feel they have something to gain to say we are not carrying the load, and that we should step aside for other people to perhaps make a little bundle on this."

He felt it should not be treated as a strictly financial proposition that council should consider the people who have homes in the area.

Mr. Joannise also questioned whether the present combined police-fire set-up would be able to cope with the apparent trend towards more apartments in Esquimalt.

PAY FOR OTHERS

He was afraid that eventually the necessity of additional men and equipment would mean that his taxes would increase to pay for protection for apartments.

Ald. Gerald Horne assured him that the fire committee will watch the situation.

Ald. William Bell said he felt council's responsibility was towards people living in the municipality before developers.

GOOD PEOPLE

"A few dollars on the tax rate won't be worth losing the people we have living here now."

The bylaw passed three readings and committed stage with Ald. Bell the lone dissenter.

School Board Move 'This Year'Castle Stay Nearly Ended

By BILL STAVDAL

The Greater Victoria school board will occupy the entire Lansdowne campus of the University of Victoria this year and pull out of Craigdarroch Castle after 39-year stay.

The move will simultaneously:

- Provide more space for the fast-growing Institute of Adult Studies.
- Open the way for the Victoria School of Music to move into the castle, which it has long sought.
- Centralize the administration and services of the school district.

Fisherman Tells All

John Fry will speak and show pictures on his South American visit, as winner of The Daily Colonist King of Fisherman Contest, to a public meeting at 8 p.m. today at 303 Brunswick Place, sponsored by the Marigold NDP Club. Mr. Fry visited Mexico, Ecuador, Chile, Peru and Columbia.

NEW LEASE

The new lease will officially put the school board into the old brick Young Building, former site of the Provincial Normal School and Victoria College.

Amount of the new lease will be $30,000 per year, less what the board spends on renovations and maintenance, said Mr. Bunn.

Third structure on the campus, the Paul Building, was bought by the school board and occupied as its headquarters a year ago.

Dr. Malcolm Taylor, president of the University, commented Monday:

"It's very exciting to see that the school board needs the campus for its Institute of Adult Studies. It's a very worthwhile program."

Mr. Bunn predicted the school board would be out of Craigdarroch Castle "before the end of the year."

The board said last year it expected to use Craigdarroch Castle as an annex for up to five years.

The castle, completed in 1889 by coal baron Robert Dunsmuir, is now used as a teachers' information centre, a library of supplementary readers, a teaching aids supply depot and office space.

When the school board vacates the castle will revert to the city of Victoria.

We should find a living community use for it.

"I can't commit my council, but I shall be making recommendations."

A delegation from the music school approached the school board last December, seeking a commitment. The school is at 415 Pandora.

James K. Nesbitt, president of the Craigdarroch Castle Society, said "I think the school of music should go there."

Mr. Nesbitt said the society could furnish the main floor of the castle in period furniture and open it to the public, leaving the upper stories to the music school.

Straying daffodils from spectacular property of Alfred Knott at 3906 Metchosin Road draw sniffs of appreciation from three-year-old Shelley Jones. Mr. Knott started 23 years ago with a clump of bulbs, which "gradually took over the lawn." Now they cover more than half an acre with almost unbroken carpet of color.—(J. T. Jones)

'Most Regrettable'Saanich Blasts New Tax Form

The B.C. government's new property tax form took a lambasting Monday night at a special meeting of Saanich council to go over amendments to the Municipal Act.

Enabling legislation was included in Bill 112 to enable Saanich to get underway with its proposed sewer enterprise.

Fire-Pay Views Presented

Representatives from the city and the firefighters' union presented briefs Monday during a day-long conciliation board hearing to set wages for 1968.

Decision of the board, which will probably be handed down within a week.

Firemen have been asking an increase of 18 per cent during negotiations, and they held to that figure on Monday. No firm offer has been made by the city.

Negotiations with the city police union were concluded recently when the employees won an increase of 6 per cent.

Meanwhile, talks continue with city inside and outside workers, all of whom are members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees.

House Burned

Fire levelled a vacant house on the Malahat north of Chemainus about 9:15 p.m. Monday. The district in which the house was built is not protected by fire departments.

Grants Given

Three members of the psychology department at the University of Victoria have been awarded research grants totaling $40,000 by national agencies. They are Dr. Orlif Spreen, Dr. C. W. Tolman and Dr. H. J. Summers.

Opposition UnitedNaden Fleet 'House' Backs Merchant Bill

Canada would have a merchant navy — if Monday's session of parliament at the old gymnasium at Naden had been real.

But it wasn't. It was the mock parliament of the officer candidates now training at the academic division of the Fleet School in Esquimalt.

COPROMISED

The government introduced a bill that would give Canada a distinctive merchant fleet. The opposition appeared united in an effort to defeat the bill. But the government permitted several major amendments to be made and it passed.

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell, as governor general and MLA H. J. Bruch (Sociedad-Esquimalt) presided as speakers.

BITS 'N PIECES

The made a hit with Mr. Chatterton. It was made of a gilded detergent bottle stuffed with toilet paper and attached to the end of a broom handle.

Among important functionaries taking part were: William Ferguson, prime minister; Ernest Colwell, secretary of state for foreign affairs; Peter Dickinson, trade and commerce minister; Kenneth Mayberry, transport; Robert Thompson, national defence; Paul Phillips, finance and receiver general; Andre Rioux, opposition leader; Jerry Flynn, minority leader.

Given permission "for reasons of conscience."

About $20,000 was saved in the registration of title in the name of the Regional District of the Capital of B.C., of the land comprising Elk Lake Park. The amendment was proposed by Saanich counsel D. A. M. Patterson. This was covered in Bill 112, amendments to Mun-
